SOVIET LOSES FIGHT TO GAIN ATOM SECRETS

U.N. Assembly Adjourns After Rejecting Russian Plea For Troop Census.

By LARRY HAUCK

NEW YORK — (AP — Russia Saturday lost her fight to lay open the American atomic bomb secrets immediately but the United Nations assembly approved a universally acclaimed plan for arms reduction which would, in time, scrap all weapons of mass destruction.

Optimism over the arms program was the keynote as Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov sailed for home with American assurance that international control of atomic energy with step-by-step disclosure of all the facts would be given top priority in the plan to discard arms.

The optimism was reflected as far away as Moscow where the government newspaper Izvestia declared the work of the United Nations and foreign ministers council here had been "fruitful" and "substantial." The paper said that "one cannot fail to see a substantial achievement benefitting the cause of international peace."

These developments came after Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Molotov addressed the assembly late Friday night and early Saturday.

Census Plan Rejected.

At the dinner hour delegates still had 23 items before them but many were non-controversial and the secretariat held out hope that the assembly's final adjournment could be reached in the early hours of Sunday.

The secretariat gave up hopes of reaching final adjournment last night in the midst of long debates over minor items and announced another plenary session for 2:30 p. m. (EST) today. The assembly recessed at 7:55 p. m. (EST) until 9:15 p. m. for dinner.

The arms reduction program was approved unanimously in the morning amid a wave of applause in the Flushing Meadows assembly hall.

The 54-member nations then turned down by a vote of 36 to 6, the Russian demand for an immediate global census of troops and all armaments to implement a

'Free News' Meeting Endorsed by U. N.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Declaring that freedom of information is the "touchstone of all the freedoms," the United Nations assembly late last night unanimously adopted a resolution calling for a conference of all U.N. members in 1947 on freedom of information.

The resolution specifically stated that delegations to the conference shall include "persons actually engaged or experienced in press, radio, motion pictures and other media for the dissemination of information."

The assembly action climaxes a fight waged since last winter's meeting.

OSU's Bevis Tosses Ball To Bricker

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio State university's president, Dr. Howard Bevis, Saturday tossed the ball back to U. S. Sen.-Elect John W. Bricker, who opened a three-way verbal storm by declaring OSU needed to revamp its teaching and clean out subversive elements.

Asserting OSU opposed "subversive unAmerican teaching in any subject area," Dr. Bevis said:

"If it is proved to exist anywhere in the university, it will be stopped."

In Washington, where last night Bricker flayed campus Reds in a speech before Washington alumni of his alma mater, the senator-elect explained he did not specify subversive elements, nor did he cite examples requiring cleanup.

His speech, he said, was mainly an expression against teaching of radical or unAmerican philosophy.

Earlier, Gov. Frank J. Lausche got into the fray with a statement averring Bricker had "loosely spoken." He pointed out the university is a separate autonomy under its trustees, and added:

"Though five of them are Bricker's appointees, seemingly he doubts the propriety of what they are doing in operating Ohio State university."

THEY PLAN TO HELP NEEDY— Scores of needy Mansfield families again will benefit from the Christmas food and gift baskets being gathered by the Senior high school group pictured above. Each year high school pupils, organized into a "Christmas basket committee" under the supervision of Miss Ruth Dunham, Latin instructor, collect food and toys for the unfortunate families who have children attending public schools. Members of the committee pictured are (left to right) Harold Leiendecker, Maurice Knapp, David Barnhill, Dorla Wagner, Martha Shiplet, Marilyn Miller, David Ganyard and Nancy Osbun. Home Building Opened To All U. S. Citizens

President's Order Removes $10,000 Sales Ceiling On New Residences; Bans Luxury-Type Homes.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman last night opened up home building to all citizens, wiped out the housing priorities system and removed the $10,000 sales ceiling on new homes.

Along with this sweeping liberalization of federal housing controls, Mr. Truman announced that a "vigorous housing program" will be pushed throughout 1947, with emphasis on rental homes.

In making it possible for non-veterans to build, Mr. Truman said this will be allowed only if the owner plans to live permanently in the new dwelling.

Luxury-type housing will continue to be prohibited through a system by which each prospective builder must obtain a government permit.

The floor area of each residence so built will be restricted. The $80 a month ceiling on rentals of new newly-built houses is revised also, with new rental limits to be established on each new home built for tenancy.

In the case of rental housing projects, $80 will be the average rent for each dwelling unit, instead of the ceiling.

* * *

Building Limitation.

The limitation on store, factory, and other non-residential building will be continued, Mr. Truman's statement said, but "some increase" will be permitted because of the improved supply of building materials.

Industrial and commercial construction over the whole nation now is held, by the granting of priorities, to $35,000,00 a month.

Mr. Truman decared there will be "no major modification in the objective of rapidly and adequately housing our veterans."

"The veterans' need remains extremely urgent and we recognize this by continuing to give veterans preference for every dwelling unit constructed for sale or rent," the White House statement went on.

"More family units must be made available for rent to veterans. They should not be compelled to buy in order to get shelter."

* * *

Private Financing.

The president disclosed that the government plans financing and other aids to encourage builders to produce dwellings for rent, and said "the great bulk of this task will fall upon private enterprise."

"The techniques that we will use are those that will work today," Mr. Truman went on. "I am interested in results in results and vinced that this 1947 program will produce results."

Additional changes announced by the chief executive included:

The allocation of certain raw materials must be continued "for some months," but they will be relaxed or dropped "as rapidly as the situation permits."

In the "simple" permit system to be set up for prospective home builders, neither sales prices nor inspection standards will be imposed.

* * *

To Review Subsidies.

The "premium payment subsidies" for which congress last summer appropriated $400,000,000 will be reviewed critically and only those will be continued which

New Federal Housing Program at Glance

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Here at a glance is the new housing program announced by President Truman last night:

Anyone may build a house for his own occupancy. Until now only veterans could get permits.

Priorities on building materials will be dropped.

"Some increase" in non-residential construction will be permitted.

The price ceiling is removed on new houses built for sale. It was $10,000.

Where new houses and apartments are built to be rented, the rent ceiling for all the units in the project will average $80 —some may be more and some less. Until now a flat $80 ceiling was imposed.

The allocation of raw materials to manufacturers of building materials may be dropped April 1 if production continues high.

More federal financing will be given to rental housing.

Drive for Funds Gets $2,000 'Starter'

Friendly House Campaign Set For Monday.

Mansfield's $60,000 Friendly House campaign opens tomorrow with a $2,000 "starter" and a good chance that the opening day will bring $3,000 more to finance construction of the city's first modern settlement building.

Russell Gimbel, director of the Friendly House, said yesterday that nine organizations and several individuals had already made their pledges toward the project. The $60,000 represents the agency's share in "Operation Tomorrow," long-range civic improvement plan of Richland Foundation through which Mansfield manufacturers will donate 70 per cent of the estimated $235,000 total cost of the new building.

"We've already received the $2,000 and we're pretty sure that other pledges will run $3,000 more," Gimbel said. The campaign will continue through Jan. 15 with Paul Endriss heading the drive as chairman, Dean Dickerson as vice chairman, and Coleman Todd as publicity manager.

Organizations which have already contributed are: the men and women of B'nai B'rith, men and women of B'nai Jacob congregation, Newman school PTA, Bowman school PTA, National Association of Letter Carriers Auxiliary, Daughters of Isabella, Joan of Arc Circle 380, and a Mansfield salvage company.

Gimbel said that among the individuals were checks ranging from $25 to $500 from former Mansfield residents, now living in Cleveland, California and Florida.

The director added that the only benefit scheduled for the drive so far was the Christmas night dance to be sponsored by Richland Post 72, American Legion.

Serving as main office for the campaign, headquarters will be set up tomorrow in the R. E. Moorhead garage, Park avenue west. Miss Barbara Hartman will be in charge.

Todd said that every industry in the city will conduct individual campaigns for the solicitation of gifts and pledges from their employes. Retail store employes will be contacted as well as all business and professional offices. Special gifts will be solicited by a special gifts committee. All persons not contacted through any of the above means are urged to mail or deliver their contributions to Friendly House building fund headquarters, in care of the R. E. Moorhead company, 37 Park avenue west.

Mansfield Tire and Rubber company's "inside" campaign for the Friendly House project will open Monday and Tuesday when all of the company's 2,800 employes receive a special four-page edition of "Mansfield Tire Topics," employe magazine.

The issue, according to John M. Schroeder, public relations director and editor of the house organ, will carry pictures and personal stories of employes who used the Friendly House's facilities in their boyhoods.

A "pep rally" for more than 130 solicitors in the plant will be held in the company's convention hall Monday afternoon when pledge cards will be distributed. Schroeder said that no quota has been set, but that the labor-management committee, conducting the drive, has adopted the slogan, "At Least a Fiver for Friendly House."

Russian 'Iron Curtain' Overemphasized, County Farmer Says After Trip To Europe

The "iron curtain" that we hear so much about in Russian occupied and controlled European territory isn't nearly as evident once you're in those countries as it is in American newspapers and magazines, according to W. E. Stough, Springfield township farmer who has returned from a seven week agricultural inspection of Europe.

Stough, member of the board of directors of the Ohio Farm Bureau association, went with a group of prominent Ohio farmers to see first hand just what agricultural conditions are in the war-devastated countries.

* * *

"RUSSIA DOES DRIVE A hard bargain, of course, particularly in Germany, where we spent five days," Stough declared. "But the 'iron curtain' isn't as bad as we hear about it over here."

While in Germany Stough talked to many farmers and found they are the only part of the German population to be organized.

"The farmers were one group that Hitler didn't dare organize into a Nazi machine," Stough said. "He had to have food and because of that he didn't dare bear down too hard on the farmers. I talked with farmers who told me that during the war they were allowed to have eggs from just one hen for each member of the family and were supposed to give the rest to Hitler to feed the army, but many of them raised just enough chickens for their own families and no more. And there was nothing Hitler could do about it, apparently."

The crying need in Europe just now is of course food, according to Stough. Faces are peaked from lack of the right amount of vitamins. People, particularly in Germany, go around begging for food and cigarets. They'd rather have cigarets than money," Stough said.

* * *

"THERE'S LITTLE WE CAN do about helping mechanize European farms, because most of them are so small tractors just couldn't get around them," he remembered. "I met one man who owned 17 acres but it was divided into such small tracts of land that he couldn't possibly have used machinery.

W. E. STOUGH

"They still use oxen and horses and a great deal of farm work is done by hand. Up in Sweden we saw people mowing by hand and that's pretty general everywhere."

The worst food of the entire trip he ate in England, Stough said.

"For the first time in my life I had to eat fish for breakfast. You can get only one main meal a day. Of course, England sends all her best food to other countries in order to keep up her trade."

"I thought England was badly battered," he said, "Until I got to Europe. London is really the only spot in England badly damaged."

* * *

SWEDEN AND DENMARK are well electrified, Stough said but most surprising is that Germany is also.

Labor conditions, particularly in the Scandinavian countries are exceptionally good. Stough said.

"Labor people, the farmers and industrialists meet once every two years. If the laboring man wants more money, then he must promise to up production. After the last war, much was done in these countries to establish fair and level economy. Many of the dairies were taken out of hands of the big companies, bought up by the farmers and are run as a sort of cooperative concern. They think over there that a farmer should make as much as a man in town. So they do something about it by equalizing control."

Vet Accepts Judge's Offer To Support 10

HATTIESBURG, Miss. —(AP)— Tall, still-faced Walter H. Sherrill, 29, chose today to pay $4,615 toward the support of a dead man's 10 children rather than accept a two-to-twenty year prison sentence for manslaughter.

Sherrill was convicted by an all-veterans jury in connection with the death of John D. Gardner, killed last September in a traffic accident. County Judge William Haralson gave the defendant the alternative of contributing $5 monthly to the support of each of the Gardner children until they reach the age of 18.

If Sherrill carries out the agreement he will complete payments in 1961 when Robert Gardner, 3, reaches his eighteenth birthday.

Mrs. Gardner said that the family's sole source of income since her husband's death has been the $30 a week earned by her 16-year-old son, John, who works in a Hattiesburg bakery.

Said Sherrill, an army veteran of more than four years service in the Pacific:

"I'm satisfied. I think it is the best decision ever made by a judge."

AFL OFFICERS, AGENTS NAMED IN EXTORTION

DETROIT —(AP)— Five officers and agents of an AFL machine movers local were indicted Saturday on charges of "conspiring to extort $250,000 in tribute" by forcing work permits on men employed here during the wartime industrial building boom.

Seven other officials of local 575, International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers union (riggers' union AFL were named co-conspirators but 'not' defendants.

Circuit Court Judge George B. Murphy, one man grand jury investigating labor conditions in the Detroit area, signed the warrants and set Monday for preliminary hearings.

One count charges the defendants conspired to force work permits at a rate as high as $45 a month on men who were denied union membership. A second charges violation of state laws in forcing non-union members to pay for the privilege of working.

Defendants Listed.

The five defendants who could not be reached for comment, are:

Paul C. Allen, Pontiac, Mich.; business agent and secretary-treasurer of Local 575;

Richard Morrison, Detroit, president.

Frank White, Pontiac, Mich., trustee.

Angelo Giammaria of Columbus, O., former steward.

Jack A. Valentine, Lansing, Mich., a former union steward.

FIRE KILLS DOCTOR; FOUL PLAY FEARED

AKRON —(AP)— Dr. Carl R. Steinke, 63, surgeon and goiter specialist, was found dead Saturday in the flame-swept bedroom of his home here in a fire which Fire Chief Thomas Lynett said would be investigated "because of the possibility of foul play."

Lynett said a can half-filled with gasoline was found in Dr. Steinke's bedroom after firemen extinguished the flames.

Coroner R. E. Amos said he would withhold a verdict on the cause of death pending an investigation.

AUTO CRASHES HURT 6 PERSONS

Six persons were injured early Sunday morning in automobile accidents in Mansfield and Lexington.

A two-car collision at 1:20 a. m. at Cline and Marion avenues injured Dr. O. J. Marcus, a chiropodist, of 210 Cline avenue; his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Harris, of 400 Overlook road, and Joseph Letizia, 340 Sturges avenue.

Letizia was riding alone; the others were in another car.

At 2 a. m., General hospital reported Mrs. Harris had suffered head injuries. Extent of injuries to the others was not determined.

A man identified by his automobile license certificate as Maynard C. Marsh, 27, R. D. 3, Mansfield, was injured seriously early Sunday morning in an automobile accident in Lexington.

Taken to General hospital, he was reported to be suffering head injuries.

Deputy Sheriff F. F. Palmer informed the News-Journal at 1:40 a. m. that Marsh (or March) was driving a 1940 coupe when his car failed to make the curve on Route 42 in the heart of Lexington.

The car crashed through a guard rail and smashed into the residence of Harvey Derenberger, damaging it considerably.

Marsh, who resides at Longview and Stocking avenues, was reported returning from a dance in Johnsville.

NEW YORK PICKED AS U. N. CAPITAL

NEW YORK—(AP)—The United Nations general assembly late last night picked Manhattan's east side for its permanent capital. The vote was 46 to 7. Haiti was absent.

The assembly greeted the result with great applause.

The action, taken in about 30 minutes of short, snappy discussion, climaxed a year's search for a permanent home for the new world peace agency.

San Francisco and Philadelphia were the principal contenders until John D. Rockefeller jr., presented his surprise offer of $8,500,000 to buy land for a site in Manhattan's east side.

BOY SCOUTS GET CABIN IN LAKE VALLEY AS GIFT

Mansfield Boy Scouts are going to get a real log cabin for use as a first aid building. It's to be a gift of Mrs. Bertha Nichols, widow of Dr. John H. Nichols.

The 20-by-25-foot cabin, built of locally hewn logs and hand split shingles, today stands in the way of progress—the city's Clear Fork reservoir.

Next year, when it will be in the path of reservoir work, it is to be moved to the scout area in Springfield township, near Ontario.

Mrs. Nichols said the cabin will be donated specifically to Troop 6, of which her grandson, John Porter an Eagle Scout, was a member. The cabin will be for use of all Scouts, however, she said.

Mrs. Nichols said she will help equip the first aid cabin with medical supplies. It was built in 1940, has a gabled roof and a fieldstone fireplace.

10-YEAR-OLD GIRL SLIGHTLY IMPROVED

Miss Joanne Alberta Fusco, 10, of 574 Glendale boulevard, who was struck by an auto as she crossed Lexington avenue yesterday afternoon, was slightly improved late last night, General hospital attaches reported.

Miss Fusco was injured critically when struck by an auto driven by Robert J. Geiger, 25, 344 Ruth avenue, shortly after noon.

State highway patrolmen, who investigated, said the girl had just stepped off a rapid transit bus. They said she suffered fracture of the skull and the right leg, internal injuries and lacerations and bruises about the head.

London Jewel Thieves Reap Rich Harvest As 'Worst Fog In Living Memory' Grips City

LONDON—(AP)—A choking fog, described by the Royal Automobile association as "the worst in living memory," held the British Isles and most of northern Europe in its grip for the fifth straight day and gave a Sherlock Holmes setting last night to new jewel theft mysteries.

Likened by Americans to a Pittsburgh or St. Louis "smog" because of its soot-laden grime, it snarled air, sea, highway and rail traffic—even the subway trains.

It also complicated the precautionary guarding of Scotland Yard headquarters and historic Marble Arch which bobbies encircled after anonymous telephone callers threatened to blow up those structures. Scotland Yard declined to link the threats with earlier reports that the Jewish resistance in Palestine might extend its operations to London.

* * *

OPERATING IN THE "PEA souper," thieves cut the strap of the handbag of the American-born Marquise de Zahara and got away with $22,000 worth of jewels, including a Russian emerald and diamond brooch, a diamond and ruby bracelet and a ruby solitare ring.

The Marquise, the former Betty Byrne who is the widow of the late Spanish minister to Paris, was jostled in Victoria station after arriving from Paris on the international Golden Arrow express and believed it was a "thief's trick."

Strangest crime was the disappearance of $3,600 worth of silver coins from a sealed express car bound for Wales. The rest of the shipment, worth $40,000 was found untouched when the car was opened at Cardiff.

* * *

TWO MOTOR TRUCKS WITH cargoes of clocks and shoes worth more than $4,000 vanished in London.

Thieves also darkened the gaiety of a dinner given by the Venezuelan ambassador, Don Andres Rodrigue Azpura. They stole two fur capes and a pearl necklace, all worth $2,400, from the daughter and daughter-in-law of Sir George Ogilvie Forbes.

Long distance trains reached London 160 minutes late.

TEACHER UNION ASKS PAY FLOOR

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The executive council of the Ohio Federation of Teachers (AFL) approved Saturday a program for submission to the state legislature calling for a guaranteed minimum salary of $2,400 for Ohio public school teachers.

Executive Secretary Raymond R. Peck said the council's program would provide for an increase of the flat grant to schools from an average of $44 to an average of $75 and an increase of the guaranteed foundation program from the present basis to $120 for all schools.

The council's program also would change the basis for distribution of school funds from average daily attendance to average daily membership.

White Assails Meader Report's Racial and Religious Prejudices

By WALTER WHITE

The most disturbing phase of the now famous Meader report on Germany is the coldblooded cynicism of the Republicans in utilizing racial and religious prejudices to achieve partisan and personal political advantages. George Meader became chief counsel of the special senate committee investigating the national defense program through the influence of Sen. Homer L. Ferguson of Michigan. Meader is reputed to be ambitious to become a congressman from Grand Rapids through the support of America Firsters and of the dismaying array of organizations which feed on the prejudices, fears and hatreds of Michigan industrial workers, many of them from the south.

WALTER WHITE

Even more inexplicable are the tactics of Senator Owen Brewster of Maine. At a conference in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel on Nov. 13, it is reliably reported that he repeatedly stressed the section of Meader's report dealing with alleged relations between American Negro troops and German women in an effort to influence Secretary of State Byrnes of South Carolina and Senator Tom Connally of Texas. To their credit neither they nor Senator Arthur Vandenberg yielded to Brewster's appeal to race prejudice. In the Nov. 9 issue of Liberty magazine Sen. Brewster, brazenly admitting that the source of his facts was a single officer and that "the charges made before the committee have not been proved," nevertheless broadcast lurid and unproved charges, particularly regarding Negro troops, through the pages of this widely-circulated magazine.

* * *

MEADER SPENT A GRAND total of three weeks in France and Germany. In a manner reminiscent of the jokes about American writers becoming expert enough to write definitive tomes on England or Russia after a few days' visit, Meader proceeded in a 63-page confidential report to state and solve the following problems: The terms and subsequent administration of the Potsdam agreement; the negotiations leading up to that agreement; the negotiations for economic unification of the four German zones; the creation of a separate French zone; the functions and functioning of the American department of state; what the senate foreign relations committee should do; various subjects under negotiation in the United Nations by Sen. Vandenberg; the kind of staff which the negotiators in our state department should have; the organization, staff and activities of American Military Government in Germany; the necessity and advisability of hiring immediately a staff of at least 1,000 spies for espionage in the other three occupation zones of Germany; German public opinion of the United States and of our troops; the morals, diseases, personal conduct and attitudes, housing and family relations of 165,000 American troops scattered as constabulary all over Europe; black markets in Germany; the relations of Wall Street and in particular Dillon, Reed and company (most extraordinary coming from a Republican) and American "big business" to Germany; cartels and monopolies in Germany; denazification methods and results; venalty among American officials, high and low; the arrogance, laziness and imprudence of Jewish refugees and other victims of Nazi terror; the behavior of Negro troops, and a host of other subjects the mere naming of which would take all the wordage allotted to this column.

Exhibit III of Meader's report consists of seven single-spaced pages itemizing the major-generals, colonels, AMG officials and diplomats with whom he talked on his breathtakingly swift tour.

* * *

AS CAREFUL SCRUTINY AS possible has been made of the list of 96 Americans, Germans and Bavarians with whom Meader talked. Not one Negro is named. Yet Meader licks his investigatorial chops in repeating virtually every item of the world-wide anti-Negro propaganda which some of us who visited various theaters of war encountered wherever we went. Negro troops are diseased, undisciplined, etc., etc., Meader reports, without any visible effort to ascertain the truth of the charges or to learn whether they apply to all Negro soldiers or to a minority of them only, as Col. Francis Miller, who was the source of Meader's information, later stated. Meader's credulity regarding such charges is matched only by that of Sen. Eastland of Mississippi who alleged last year on the floor of the senate that Negro soldiers had "raped" German women in the subways of Stuttgart only to be embarrassed by the revelation that Stuttgart has no subways.

But Meader is small fry. He was the willing tool of men who have acted in a manner which cannot but injure the prestige of the senate and the Republican party. When the six Democratic members of the senate committee voted against publication of Meader's report, it was allowed to "leak" to Robert S. Allen of the North American Newspaper Alliance and other Washington correspondents. The four Republican members of the committee — Brewster of Maine, Ferguson of Michigan, Ball of Minnesota and Knowland of California—then demanded of Sen. Harley Kilgore of West Virginia, the committee chairman, that the report be released. Kilgore called a meeting of the committee for Dec. 6. On Dec. 4 two of Meader's staff members handed out copies willy-nilly in the senate press room. I sent a stenographer from my Washington office for copies and she was given three without any question as to whom she represented. To each report was attached a Pontius Pilate absolution statement that "members of the committee are not to be charged with responsibility for the statements it (the confidential report) contains." Since "excerpts" had "leaked" to the press, the covering statement piously alleges, "the only way to correct such inaccuracies is to release the full texts."

* * *

A PROMINENT REPUBLICAN senator recently declared at a dinner party in Washington that the program of his party for the next two years will be to "investigate, investigate, investigate—but not legislate." Is the handling of the Meader report a sample of this dangerous philosophy? Is it true that the four Republican senators backed by the party's high command calculatedly used this report to embarrass the war department and the Democrats, figuring that minorities smeared by Meader could later be appeased by a vote to oust Bilbo from the senate? Whatever the answer to these two questions and grievous as are the undoubted shortcomings of the war department and the conduct of some of our troops in Germany, it is shocking beyond measure that prominent members of a responsible political party should display such political ineptitude and, even more, be willing to indulge in smearing minorities to gain political advantage for the party and publicity for any of its members. The unsavory mess will not be forgotten.

In a later column I will answer certain of the charges made by Meader respecting the behavior of Negro troops abroad. They will be answered on the basis of personal investigation made by me while serving as a war correspondent in both the European and Pacific theaters of war.

SHENANDOAH AT THE CROSSROADS—Quiet Shenandoah, where most activity now centers in its general store (top left) was once the "hub of industry" for Bloominggrove township. Wilson C. Urich (right), at 87, looks back on the years and remembers when Shenandoah was a thriving, busy shopping center. Shenandoah General Store Remains 'Talk Center' Through the Years

By NITA BRANSON

It was Saturday night in William Morris' general store at Shenandoah. The year was about 1899 and farmers and their wives were in for their weekly order of staples and to discuss with residents of the cross-roads town the big event of the week.

That event was the obtaining of a rural free delivery route for Shenandoah out of Shiloh. The man who was partially responsible for that new service still lives in Shenandoah in a house across the street from the general store, which to this day is located where William Morris weighed out sugar and spice and took in farmers' eggs as part payment.

He is Wilson C. Urich, a member of Richland county's first health board and for many years one of the most active farmers in the vicinity of the Bloominggrove township town.

* * *

"FRANK CHEW AND I worked on that RFD route for days.

"First we went to Mansfield and talked to the postmaster there, but he hesitated to promise anything for Shenandoah because it was difficult to get across the Blackfork during the rainy season," Urich recalls. "Finally, we decided to go to Shiloh and that was where we got our RFD service from.

"Before that the general storekeeper was the postmaster," Urich continued, "and we got our mail whenever we could get into the store. That general store was first owned by George Cline. It has always been a fine place to shop. It still is. Luther Lomax, who owns it now, keeps up the tradition pretty well."

Lomax bore out Urich's praise by displaying a well-stocked store with plenty of foods and everything from fence wire to fruit cocktail.

* * *

AT 87, URICH CAN LOOK back a good many years and remember Shenandoah when the town was a thriving, industrious place of business. It was a great deal more, 50 years ago, than just a small cross-roads town on the main highway. It was important in its own right.

"At one time, there was a John Sanka buggy and wagon factory, where the finished product was turned out to be driven home behind our horses," Urich recalls. "Later there was a shoe factory and farmers for miles around got their shoes and boots custom made.

"A man by the name of Valentine ran that shoe factory and employed three or four men. About the time we got the RFD, there was a rake and handle factory here, run by John McClain. And, of course, there was always a blacksmith."

* * *

URICH SETTLED MORE COMfortably in the rocker at his cozy home and smiled reminiscently.

"We even had a tile yard here about 1870, when I was a boy," he said. Suddenly, he chuckled, "Why I even remember when we had bicycle races. Racers used to peddle east to the next crossroads, then north and cover a square of about eight or ten miles. Those races use to cause a lot of excitement here."

Today Shenandoah residents and those from the surrounding area still gather at the general store for shopping and talk, but the talk these days has reached out beyond the borders of the town and become national in scope. Automobiles and the RFD have seen to that.

Soldier's Wife Finds a House; It's In Germany

Lt. and Mrs. James C. Fisher of Mansfield have found one way to solve the housing problem.

Mrs. Fisher left Friday for New York from where she sails soon for Frankfort - on - the-Main, Germany, to join her husband serving in the American occupational air forces.

After a few days in New York, Mrs. Fisher will sail to Europe and travel by troop train to Frankfort. There her husband has selected a seven-room house from the 98 he had to choose from. It is complete with furniture, maid service, and even a dog.

Lt. Fisher is the son of Mrs. Martha Fisher, 338 Fourth avenue. He attended air cadet school in Texas during the war and went overseas with a bomber group last August.

Just Waiting, It Seems, Is Big Part of Any Movie Task

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Fifty people including Dennis Morgan and Arlene Dahl were clustered about a movie set, just waiting, it seemed.

Some talked quietly. Many were doing nothing. A man in charge of a live horse laid a strip of felt on the synthetic street, where it wouldn't show.

Then the lights went on. The cameraman checked with the sound man, and vice versa. The director spoke sharply. Some one said "camera running."

Morgan went through the business of tying the horse's reins as he spoke to Miss Dahl. She replied, he answered, and that was that. The horse, meantime, pawed the ground.

In previous trials the sound of the horse pawing was too loud and interfered with the dialogue. Hence the felt; it softened the hoof-pawing sound, slightly but not too much.

This was a scene for "My Wild Irish Rose." They'd been at it all afternoon. It will run maybe 30 seconds on the screen in the finished picture.

* * *

IT WAS AN EYE OPENER for a novice visiting a movie lot. Waiting is a large part of the business of making a movie and just waiting is as hard work as there is in any job.

After a scene is set up, props, lights, costumes and all, a lot of waiting just naturally follows. Maybe some lighting isn't just right, so the cast, camera crew et al waits while the electricians fix it. Then perhaps the director discovers some prop is placed wrong, so everybody waits while carpenters fix that.

If, for example, Miss Dahl's hairdo gets a bit out of kilter, everybody waits while her hairdressers repair the coiffure. Meantime the hairdressers wait around most of the afternoon, with nothing to do, but they're there, just in case.

Members of the company sprawl all over the place, snatching cat naps while they wait. The director has to wait for everybody else, including an airplane passing overhead.

It's no wonder making movies is an extremely complex, expensive business. Studio statisticians figure that if, after an eight-hour day, five minutes of finished film has been produced, it's a good day's work.

Miss Dahl got her first screen kiss in this picture, from Morgan.

"It was grand," she said. "I want to do that again."

It's doubtful that she was referring to penicillin.

Many things around a studio make you say "well, I'll be dogoned." For instance::

The chief cameraman doesn't operate the camera; he superintends. Assistant cameramen actually run it.

* * *

EVERYBODY DOES NOT wear a beret. Only one beret was encountered in an entire afternoon. Under it was a bald head, a little black mustache, a big black cigar and gagman Sid Fields.

Seventy-five men and women (in just one studio) devote their lives and ulcers to publicity in all its ramifications.

Forty to 100 seamstresses work in the wardrobe building, really a big-scale costume factory.

The crafts building covers more than an acre, houses 400 craftsmen doing mechanical and construction work.

A "studio" actually is 90 acres, 22 sound stages, 3,500 employes, 40 acres of outdoor sets, administration building, cutting rooms, a restaurant feeding 550 at one time, plus a 1,200-acre ranch nearby.

The musicians' building has a series of offices like any other business office, except each one has a piano in it.

A woman is in charge of men's costumes.

Sand from a beach set must be replaced frequently because so much is carried away in people's shoes.

On one set being dismantled there was a background showing a New York East River and tenement scene complete with a bridge in miniature, for perspective.

Inevitably, at this point, the press agent asked: "would you like to buy the Brooklyn bridge?"

BEGINNER'S LUCK?

MARION, Ill.—(AP)—While taking an examination for a driver's license, Eva Mae Brimm Dunning parked her automobile and learned an unscheduled lesson the hard way. She returned to her car—and a police ticket for illegal parking.

Peak Passing On Construction Costs, Says Building Financier

COSTS LIKELY TO TOP 1940 LEVELS 128%

Gradual Downturn to Bring Period of Stabilization.

By T. E. APPLEGATE

NEW YORK —(AP)— Evidence mounted today that construction costs, estimated around 145 per cent of the 1940 average, are passing their peak.

New homes and apartment houses can be started by spring with assurance that costs will represent "real" value, George W. Warnecke, New York building financier, said.

He said he believed costs of construction would stabilize at near 128 per cent of the 1940 charges.

Change Showing

Warnecke said beginnings of the downturn have been seen since Dec. 1, in leveling-off of the materials supply situation. Productivity of construction labor has been on the upgrade for six months, he said, as availability of materials has improved.

Myron L. Matthews of the Dow service daily building reports said a number of current cost inflationary factors in construction are beginning to fade out. Among them he cited interruptions due to spotty receipt of materials, premium payments for hard-to-get items, and cost of substituting higher-priced materials or equipment.

Next spring, he predicted, the only building articles in scarce supply would be some finishing items such as pipe and boilers.

Noting that the inflationary factors mentioned are not reflected in the Dow cost index, Matthews said he expected increases in listed prices for building supply items would lift the index to around 153 per cent of the 1926 level by March 1, during a period when actual costs (for those who had been paying premium prices) would decrease. However, Matthews said, he anticipated the Dow index would drop to 125 perhaps by winter of 1947.

The turn in construction cost trends has been accompanied by an easing of prices for existing and newly-completed single houses, Warnecke reported.

"Large builders who were merely keeping a list of would-be buyers have started in the past few weeks to advertise their houses," he said.

A number of mortgage lenders "drew in their horns" two months ago because of the high cost of single home construction, Warnecke said, with a resultant slowing of construction activity.

Mortgages High

This move followed widespread warnings among bankers and others alarmed over the rise in the average size of mortgage sought. A recent study by the American Bankers association of non-farm mortgages of $20,000 or less pointed out a sharp upward spurt in the average home loan in the past year. During 1945 such mortgages averaged $3,440 representing a 24.2 per cent increase over 1940. But in the first half of 1946 the average of $4,012 was up 44.9 per cent over the 1940 figure. The A.B.A. said the mortgage loans made by banks in the same period were up only 36 per cent in size.

Real estate loans of insured banks in the first half of 1946 increased by more than $1,000,000,000, Maple Harl chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. reported, urging bankers to "exercise great care to avoid the mistake of earlier years."

An outspoken warning voice was that of Richard Rapport, Connecticut bank commissioner. While urging "sound" loans to veterans, he added: "an obligation beyond his means to continue, a loss of property and a remaining debt when market prices drop as they inevitably must, will not only be a severe blow to the veteran but will, if human nature runs true to form, cause him to regard with extreme ill-favor the bank which allowed him and even helped him to make that unfortunate transaction."

The picture which caused a contraction of lending activity two months ago has been changing in the past few weeks, Warnecke reported, as costs and prices are coming more in line with actual values.

As new construction grows in volume, he added, mortgage interest rates may be expected to increase. These rates "have tended to rise very rapidly after every war period," he said, with the situation traceable in part to expanded needs for credit in industrial financing to meet the demands for consumer and capital goods manufacture.

ADAPTATION of the ranch style house produces this design, 704, by Architect Walter T. Anicks of Ann Arbor, Mich., estimated to cost between $8,000 and $10,000 without land. It calls for a 75-foot lot. Exterior as shown here may be wide clapboard siding, white-washed brick, or cinder block. Spacious living and dining area through center of house is a feature.

2 Devices Make Housework Light

The two latest devices now built into the modern kitchen sink are electric dish washer and electric food grinder that disposes of the garbage. Dish washers may be built into the sink or may be had in a separate unit to fit snugly under the sink and be brought out and used when required.

The garbage disposers are built into the sink and grind up the food (bones and refuse) with the help of an electric motor. The ground-up garbage is disposed directly into the sewerage system.

The two items make light work for the housekeeper by reducing the task of dishwashing to a few moments' handling of the dishes.

While these devices cannot be purchased today on account of the war emergency, don't forget them when you can build a new home.

WASHING ADDS LIFE

Wash curtains frequently, as soon as signs of dustiness appear. This adds to their life. When washing colored curtains for the first time, test a sample or inconspicuous corner in lukewarm water for color fastness. Use plenty of soap and water and do not overload the washer. Also the washer should be run only as long as is necessary to remove the soil.

DISH TOWEL DRYER

Have you ever had the horrible realization that a whole pile of dishes was waiting to be dried—and no clean dish towels were available? The laundry hadn't come back and the few towels on hand were still wet from noon lunch. A towel drier, enclosed in the compartment below the sink should prove to be of real service in these days of towel shortages and damp weather, claims Practical Builder, Chicago. The compartment will, of course, be ventilated while a fan circulates air warmed by the heating element.

Wright Named Commander Of Mansfield Naval Reserve

LT. CMDR. WRIGHT

Thomas B. Wright, Lt. Cmdr., USNR, 27, of Mansfield, has been named commanding officer of Division 195, Mansfield naval "ready reserve," Lt. Cmdr. A. E. Heiser, director of naval reserve for Mansfield said today.

He will take command of the division's first drill Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the board room of the Mansfield Chamber of Commerce.

The division which includes 13 officers and 200 enlisted men will be extensively trained as part of the naval reserve program for Mansfield. It will operate on a schedule and its members will be paid.

Presently employed as a buyer in the purchasing department of Westinghouse Electric, Wright saw active duty with the navy from June 1941 until December 1945. He served on a destroyer in the Pacific for two years and on a destroyer escort in the Atlantic and Mediterranean theatres for one year. He was in the battles of Midway, Guadalcanal and Santa Cruz.

Cmdr. Wright was born and raised in Mansfield. He graduated from Mansfield Senior high school in 1937 and attended Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., from 1937 until 1940.

Organizational activities take up much of Wright's time. He is superintendent of Grace Episcopal church Sunday school, and a member of the junior chamber of commerce, University club and the American Veterans committee. His hobbies are sports of all types.

Wright lives with his wife Kathryn and their son Tommy jr., at 248 Walter avenue.

MEMORIAL TO JOHN SHERMAN—Several interesting incidents in connection with last Sunday's album picture have come to light through letters from 10 interested Mansfield and area residents, nine of whom concur in an opinion about that picture. It was the arch erected at the intersection of Park avenue west and Main streets as a memoriam to Senator John Sherman, who died in Washington and whose body was brought to Mansfield for burial. His funeral was held Thursday, Oct. 25, 1900, according to an old diary in the possession of Mrs. Bessie Boggs Dickerson, of Galion.

Henry E. Hubbs of Shelby remembers that Sherman, born in 1823, was author of the famous Sherman anti-trust law, which is still in force.

From as far away as Ft. Wayne, Ind., came a letter from Mrs. Carrie Lorenz, saying that her brother, Fred Hamm, helped Robert Maxwell work all the night before the funeral draping the arch.

Elmer E. Amsbaugh, 413 Hammond avenue, recalls that he was doing carpenter work at Alta at the time and he finished his work and came back to Mansfield in time for the funeral. Miss Luella Andrews of Butler also remembers that it was Robert Maxwell, jr., who originated the idea for the arch and did the decorating.

Miss Katherine D. Ritchie, 199 Cline avenue, recalls that the funeral cortege, which passed through the arch on its way to the cemetery, included President William McKinley, Mark Hanna, George B. Cortelyou, secretary to the president, and many other notables.

Others who agreed as to the picture's identity were William A. Harris, 237 Glessner avenue, N. W. Minnear, 15½ East Third street, and Detective Lee Remy. Aaron Brown, 287 North Main street, cast the only dissenting vote. He thought the arch was one erected to President McKinley at his death.

Can you identify today's picture?

MARKET ENJOYS RECOVERY WEEK

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks generally moved up at a leisurely pace in Saturday's market, with steels in the lead, and, for the first time since last March, made it three recovery weeks in a row.

Gains of fractions to a point or more predominated at the close with scattered jumps of better than 3. Transfers were 550,000 shares.

Buying and short covering in the two-hour stretch were credited partly to hopes for a yearend rally which has eventuated in most of the past 45 years.

Engineers Public Service slipped on profit cashing and Telautograph was off a shade following an omitted dividend.

SOVIET LOSES A-BOMB FIGHT

long-range proposal for their reduction to the size of a peace-keeping police force.

* * *

Satisfactory to Soviet.

As Molotov boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth after attending the foreign ministers conference and most important U. N. sessions he commented that results were "as satisfactory to the Soviet delegation as they are to the other delegations."

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, taking the same ship for home, said the ministers had "cleared away a good deal of the debris of misunderstanding and conflict and we can now proceed to lay the foundation of a durable peace."

Other U. S. developments at Saturday's plenary sessions included:

1—Approval of U. N. administrative budgets of $19,390,000 for 1946 and $27,740,000 for 1947 and establishment of a working capital fund of $20,000,000. The United States contribution finally was scaled down from 49 89 per cent to 39.89 per cent. Russia will pay 6.34 per cent and Great Britain 11 48 per cent.

2—Setting up of the U. N.'s last major body to be formed—the trusteeship council—with the election of Mexico and Iraq to the last two seats. Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia and New Zealand, as administering states for eight former league mandates, and the United States, Russia and China, as members of the Big Five, automatically were seated.

Truman Orders Sweeping Housing Program Changes

will result in "substantial" benefits to housing.

Mr. Truman is making available to the Federal Housing administration the second $1,000,000,000 of title 6 mortgage insurance authorization provided by the Patman Emergency Housing act, to be used primarily in the financing of rental homes.

More types of rental housing will be made eligible for federal housing financing, and the extent of amortization of title 6 loans will be extended beyond the usual 28 years, in order to cut monthly payments and make possible lower rents. The length of extension will be fixed individually for each project.

* * *

Plan Local Meetings.

The national housing agency will at once arrange local and regional meetings of builders and lenders to survey rental housing needs in each area and to develop speedy construction programs.

To offset a prospective "serious shortage of manpower" next year in the building trades, efforts will be made to enlarge the present apprentice training program to expand the supply of skilled and semi-skilled carpenters, bricklayers and other construction workers

Mr. Truman expressed the opinion that it should be possible to end allocation of raw materials for production of building materials after the first quarter of 1947.

He said his announcement dealt only "with the government's part in a vast housing program."

"The success of the program, however, depends not alone on the federal government but on state and local governments, industry, labor and financial institutions," he went on.

* * *

Explains Priority End.

With reference to the dropping of priorities on more than 50 types of scarce building materials, Mr. Truman explained:

"Priority ratings were necessary in 1946 while building materials were in critically short supply, but the increasing production of building materials coupled with the limitation of non-residential construction and a continued postponement of luxury-type housing make the priority system no longer necessary.

"Outstanding priorities with their attendant obligations will be honored, but the issuance of any additional priorities to builders or manufacturers of homes will be discontinued as soon as the permit system gets into operation."

In permitting any person who wishes to build a home for his personal occupancy to do so, Mr. Truman said the move will increase the over-all housing supply, and in many instances, create vacancies for veterans when non-veterans move into newly built dwellings.

* * *

Restrictions Listed.

These three restrictions will be imposed in the issuance of federal permits, the president said:

"1. The proposed dwelling must be designed for year-round occupancy.

"2. The total floor area will be restricted.

"3. In the case of rental housing projects, maximum rents, excluding charges for services, will be set at a project average not exceeding $80 per unit. Rentals will also be established for individual houses built for rental purposes."

In the case of multi-family rental projects, other officials explained, some units may be rented for $100, if an equivalent number are rented for $60 in order to keep the average rental at the old $80 figure.

* * *

Features Retained.

Besides the limit on non-housing construction, many other features of the 1946 housing drive are retained, including the guaranteed market plans for factory-built and prefabricated homes and for new types of materials produced for such homes; the demolition of old army camps and other surplus property to provide housing materials, and export controls on scarce building materials.

Studies of proposed new legislation will be concluded quickly, Mr. Truman said, and will cover cooperative and mutual housing enterprises, "yield insurance" by which the government would guarantee profits to sponsors of big rental projects, possible tax incentives to housing developers, possible financing advantages, and federal aid for the housing of low-income families.

The relaxation of rules was the product of three days of intensive top-level official conferences. Mr. Truman and two cabinet members took part in the talks for an hour Saturday afternoon.

Elliott Won't Talk In Poland

WARSAW—(AP)—Elliott Roosevelt declined Saturday a request for an interview, saying he was in Poland as an observer and not to give out any statements. He and his wife received a delegation of eight students at the Roosevelt school in Warsaw who presented him with a plaque to be delivered to his mother.

Roosevelt said he planned to return to Moscow, Sunday, and hoped to be back home in the United States by Christmas if the weather permitted.

Train Wreck Welded Agencies Into Efficient Rescue Units

By AL PREYER

Mansfield and the nation Friday saw the spirit of America at work in the cool, quick and efficient way in which the worst rail disaster in the city's area for many years was handled by the hundreds of workers, organized and volunteer, who rushed to the scene and worked frantically to extricate the dead and wounded.

As fast as word could be spread after the crash of two freight trains and a passenger train 12 miles southeast of Mansfield, doctors, nurses, firemen, policemen, Red Cross, veterans administration, volunteer organizations, and individuals sped to lend whatever assistance they could.

The Mansfield chapter of Red Cross was quickly mobilized. Every agency was pressed into service and responded quickly and efficiently.

The canteen was soon at the scene of the wreck, serving hot coffee and doughnuts to rescued and workers alike. Also there, at 4 a. m., was Home Service Worker Miss Esther Barnett and, shortly after her, Miss Elanore Wentz. They took messages from the soldiers and dispatched them as quickly as possible to the addresses requested by the boys. The messages were sent over the boys' names.

At General hospital, where nurses and doctors worked quickly and efficiently in the congested conditions, other home service workers, Mrs. A. W. Meihack and Mrs. W. E. Bradford, took messages from the boys.

Many nurses aides from Mansfield and Shelby rushed to serve at the wreck and at the hospital

At Mansfield Red Cross headquarters 118 messages were sent to 14 states ranging in distance from Washington state to Washington, D. C. Ninety-two cases were dealt with and 29 telephone and 15 telegraph inquiries were answered.

Working shoulder to shoulder with railroad wrecking crews and volunteer workers to release victims from the twisted cars were Mansfield's highway patrol, augmented by five officers from nearby posts. Mansfield officers are patrolmen R. H. Opp, C. L. Taylor, S. L. Adomaitis, Dwight M. Carey and A. E. Hartman.

The State Guard, auxiliary patrolmen, Mansfield firemen and police, and state highway workers, headed by Clarence G. Tugend, state highway superintendent in the county, played important roles in the rescue and salvage work.

LINCOLN RAPS FEDERAL BLOW AT INCENTIVES

CLEVELAND —(AP)— President James F. Lincoln of the Lincoln Electric Co. declared yesterday his concern would cease to exist "unless the power of control placed in the hands of irresponsible bureaucrats is removed."

An outspoken critic of New Deal policies, Lincoln told a press conference "our incentive system, which has been so outstandingly successful over the years in reducing prices, increasing wages and providing satisfied employes, faces destruction by bureaucratic edict.

"Unless the power of control placed in the hands of irresponsible bureaucrats is removed, this company must disappear," Lincoln asserted.

"Already millions in penalties have been collected because, we are told, no man who works with his hands is worth $5,000 a year. As a result, we have been singled out and told that we are not allowed to pay pension annuities so as to retire them at the end of their active life.

"This action has been taken in spite of the fact that our plan is similar to that used by many other companies and was definitely approved by the treasury department for a number of years before we were attacked."

Lincoln referred to the federal government's action against his incentive system. A federal tax court decision early this year ruled that $975,215 paid out for purchase of retirement annuities for employes and $1,000,000 used to establish a profit-sharing trust were taxable as part of the company's net income in 1940 and 1941. An appeal from the decision is pending.

Lincoln today announced distribution of $2,800,000 in year-end incentive payments to approximately 1200 employes who he said have matched the output of four times their number in the same manufacturing field.

The firm manufactures approximately half of the arc welding equipment in the country and a quarter of the entire world's output.

Payments in addition to annual wages were not less than $1500 for an employe with the company a year and ranged as high as $25,000 for an engineer and a vice president in charge of manufacturing.

300 Club Plans Meet At Airport

A business meeting of the 300 club will be held Thursday at 7:30 p. m., at the Sky club, J. W. Stentz, president, announced yesterday.

The club is the Cleveland branch organization of Ford, Mercury, Lincoln parts and service managers. Other officers are Craig Baker, Bucyrus, vice president, and William Shaffer, Wooster, secretary.

Elementary school attendance in the United States reached a peak of more than 23,000,000 in the early 1930's.

Ridgeway Church Building Project Under Way Near City

REV. R. P. SMITH

Work is under way on a new parsonage of the Ridgeway First Church of God, U. S. Route 30, east of Mansfield, as part of a $14,000 improvement program, it was announced yesterday.

Completion of the church itself, construction of which was begun three years ago, is also part of the program. Services now are being held in the completed basement of the church.

Rev. R. P. Smith, formerly of Findlay, has assumed the pastorate of the church. He replaces Rev. Homer Denny, Hayesville, who was pastor for the last three years.

Rev. Smith formerly held pastorates in Wharton and Wooster, O., Conrad, Iowa and Moberly, Mo.

Worship services will be held at 11 a. m. today and the Bible school will begin its session at 10 a. m. Christian Endeavor will be at 6:30 p. m.

Prayer service and Bible study will be conducted at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Carl Dunham is Sunday school superintendent.

5 TRAIN VICTIMS STILL IN HOSPITAL

Five victims of the triple train wreck which claimed 19 lives on the Pennsylvania railroad near Lucas Friday remained in General hospital today after another was discharged late yesterday.

Hospital attaches reported four of the injured, all soldiers, remained in poor condition last night. They are suffering from severe burns, presumably received from live steam that gushed from one of the locomotives.

The fifth, Mrs. Wilma Hill of Gassaway, W. Va., was improved, it was reported. She suffered shock. Mrs. Gussie Brodsky, Chicago, who also suffered shock, was discharged from the hospital late yesterday.

The soldiers still hospitalized are Donald Adams, Denver, Ill.; Rex Curry, Assumption, Ill.; Siegfried Eberhardt, Madison, Wis., and Ivan M. Umphress, Wenova, Ill.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Be Careful Not To Sadden Christmas

CHRISTMAS is a gay time. It is a season when everyone plans to make someone else just a little happier than at any other time of the year. Gifts are selected and wrapped with care and placed neatly under the brilliant tree.

In this spirit, it is well to remember that the greatest present you can give your loved ones is your own presence. Gifts, gaiety and bright trees can turn to hollow mockery if a member of the family circle is missing because of accident or carelessness.

Along with your Christmas gifts this year give a little extra care and common sense, an extra thought toward preventing an accident that might ruin yours or someone else's Christmas or indeed their lives.

When driving don't drink. Start in time and take it easy. Allow for winter weather and extra holiday traffic. Show a little Christmas spirit toward other drivers and pedestrians.

In your home, keep the Christmas tree in water and away from fires. Never use lighted candles on or near a tree. Keep flimsy decorations away from the fireplace. Carefully check electric wires and connections on your Christmas tree lights or other decorations.

These few rules may mean the difference for many between sorrow and joy this Christmastide.

Contributor To World Peace Honored

THE NAME of Dr. John R. Mott, which has long been familiar to millions of Americans, comes again into the news as he becomes the recipient of this year's Nobel peace prize, which was presented to him this week in an impressive ceremony in Stockholm, Sweden.

It was in recognition of a lifetime of strenuous and effective service in the cause of world peace that 81-year-old Dr. Mott came to be thus honored, and it is noteworthy that the principles upon which his theory of world peace are based continue as the guiding influence in moving toward accomplishment of United Nations objectives.

It was as a young man that Dr. Mott entered the Y.M.C.A. movement in the belief that this agency provided a vehicle for spreading fellowship throughout the world, and he rose to become general secretary of the international organization during the period of its greatest expansion in the United States and 32 foreign countries.

Those who have heard Dr. Mott lecture, or who have read his books, will understand the earnestness with which he has pursued a single-minded course through more than a half century, and some of the provisions of the UN charter adopted at San Francisco are strangely reminiscent of an old-time Mott lecture. Many of the ideals now being expressed by earnest searchers for a formula for world peace were expounded by Dr. Mott decades ago.

Through channels provided by United Nations gatherings, high officials of many lands are getting better acquainted and discovering that, in general, they hold the same hopes of avoiding future armed conflicts.

America is proud to present to the world such outstanding examples of deep and earnest thinking on a high plane as Dr. John R. Mott, and those to whom his influence has carried.

Art Treasures Destroyed By War

INVENTORIES of the war's destruction of art reveal Italy as suffering greatly. Some 2,500 buildings, together with frescoes and sculptural decorations, have been seriously or irreparably damaged. One of the saddest stories is that of Leonardo da Vinci's Last Supper. The convent church in Milan, which houses it, was so bombed that the painting has been exposed to dampness despite sandbag protection. Many of the figures are all but vanished.

A recent book, The Lost Treasures of Europe, containing almost 500 photographs, compiled by Henry La Farge, gives the tragic story of cathedral ruin in Italy, France, England, Germany, Russia and Poland. Many of these buildings are gone forever.

Great as is this calamity to art and architecture, it is small when viewed in comparison with the loss of life or the physical and mental suffering among survivors. Yet the destruction of these priceless creations of man's genius is an eloquent symbol of war's horror. Restoration, undertaken wherever possible, will help bind the wounds of the spirit.

More People Are Living Longer

LIFE INSURANCE statisticians claim that since 1900 the number of people 65 years old and over has increased 228 per cent, while the total population of the United States has gone up only 84 per cent. Or, in other words, by the time 1960 has rolled around, one of every 11 persons will be 65 years old or over.

If figures can talk, these say clearly that people had better get ready to be old. One of the pleasantest attributes of old age, of course, is health. Beyond that are interests that make long living a happy experience. In fact the two are related. A person with a worthwhile activity as an avocation hasn't time to think too much about aches and pains.

It's well to get started on a hobby early in life. Fortunately there is no end to the possibilities. They stretch from back yard gardening to accumulating lore on ancient bridges, collecting buttons or working in some community activity.

Some Veterans Still Lack Jobs

AT LEAST a million jobs must be found for veterans, because of actual and growing unemployment trends, it is asserted by R. C. Goodwin, director of USES, overseer of the reborn state employment services.

It should be every employer's desire to give first preference to the veteran applicant for a job where there are several candidates, one being a former service man. This much, at least, is due the former GIs.

Even in the face of appearance to the contrary, Jack Warwick optimistically asserts: "There is enough common sense in the United States to overcome any crisis. The American people do not all go crazy at the same time."

Revival of the controversy over whether Bacon wrote Shakespeare indicates that things are quieting down some- . . . t least in literary circles.

TRYING TO SNUFF OUT THE CANDLE

Bromfield Suggests 'Essentials' Of Labor Laws To Meet Needs

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

THE NEW congress has an opportunity to write a constitution of American industrial labor relations which will endure and bring with it economic stability and prosperity, rather than the series of booms and depressions which is the whole record of our economy since the Civil war.

Such a constitution must impose upon organized labor the decent restraints which are observed and shared by the rest of our population, but the same legislation should recognize the fact that we are not at the beginning or even in the midst of the industrial revolution, and that we live in an immensely complex, interrelated world in which co-operation and responsibility are utterly essential if that world is to survive. It should also recognize that in such a world it becomes a responsibility of government and law to see that orders kept, contracts observed and rights balanced by responsibilities.

BROMFIELD

In such a constitution it seems to me that:

(1) Labor should have a place in the policy and direction of any industry. Labor is as vital and integral a part of our industrial civilization or of industry as capital and management, and should share in responsibilities, policies, gains and losses.

This is a point which clearly is not popular with a good many leaders of organized labor, since it would put an end to much of their power and income.

(2) The sacredness of contracts should be observed by organized labor exactly as it is observed by all other elements in the nation. Penalties and damages for breach or evasion of contract should be established by law, not only against individual leaders responsible for the breach or evasion but against the union itself and its funds. Wildcat and jurisdictional strikes would be outlawed and considered as breaches of contract and offenses against the public welfare. Provision should also be made against "featherbedding," slow-downs and the kind of blackmail power now held and exercised by Petrillo of the Musicians' Union, to force the employment of workers who produce nothing.

(3) A program which provides as nearly as possible guaranteed year-round employment should be devised, with elimination of seasonal slumps or booms.

(4) Rigorous changes in the Wagner Act, are necessary or it should be totally repealed and a new law established which (a) guarantees free speech alike to employer and employe; (b) fixes responsibilities and contract responsibilities and the right to discharge inefficient or surly workmen; (c) does away with checkoffs.

It has always been a sign of organized labor's weakness that it should seek to force the collection of its dues upon the employer instead of leaving payment to the free will of the individual member; (d) outlaws the closed shop, which is in itself a denial of the fundamental principles of democracy—the right to work, and the choice of job. In a democracy if an organization cannot sell itself on a basis of free will it lacks the justification of existence, and government has no authority to impose membership in any organization as the New Deal attempted.

(5) The extension of social security to cover every employed person in the nation. At the present time neither the industrial worker nor his employer actually pays the amount levied by law. Both assessments are actually passed on to the consumer, who pays them without receiving any benefits whatever.

In other words, it is really those who receive no security who pay for the security of the industrial worker and others who benefit under the present social security laws.

The suggestions outlined above are no more than the merest outline but they are essential to any degree of economic stability or security or dignity to the nation.

I would add to them strong restrictions upon all installment buying, which is the worst enemy of the economic security and of the working man in particular. Campaigns to press installment plan buying provide one of the most certain indications of an approaching depression, and installment plan buying is one of the greatest contributing factors to the collapse of our economy and the utter bankruptcy and helplessness of the working man himself.

Few elements contributed more to the Great Depression than the fact that most of the nation, even to those in the high income brackets, were living from one month to a year or more ahead of their incomes. Thrift and reality are still great elements in a sound economy and, despite the late (and so far as I am concerned, unlamented Lord Keynes) are essential to any stabilized and prosperous economy.

In all of this, there is one inevitable law of economics which cannot be overlooked—as even Communist Soviet Russia has discovered—that any man has his worth and that every investment has its worth and whenever either or both get out of line, disaster for all is the only and the inevitable result.

The man whose abilities lie in screwing a nut on a bolt is obviously not worth as much as the man who invents the machine which he builds, or the man who understands the manufacture and distribution of that machine.

Under any political or economic system, a man has a certain value and when there is an unbalance, the nation suffers and the worker suffers most of all. If you have any doubts look at Russian economy and the conditions of the Russian worker.

I might add that a society which pays a higher wage to the street cleaner and the janitor than to the school teacher and the librarian, as is the case in this country, is a society headed for disintegration.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Dec. 15, 1926.

Reports from Ohio cities showed Mansfield standing high in volume of holiday retail sales.

Mercury dropped to near zero in "coldest night of winter."

C. K. King moved into his newly completed home in Ashale.

Auxiliary of Sons of Union Veterans presented flag to Richland county children's home.

Remodeling of Free Methodist church, corner Harker street and Woodland avenue, was completed.

Miss Bonita Crawford and William Brennan were married by Rev. A. S. Wolfe.

Fire department officials and group of Ohio Brass employes enjoyed annual rabbit dinner at No. 2 fire station.

Jacob Hoover, 74, well-known Mifflin township farmer, died.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

The famous Hartford convention, representing the New England states, assembled on December 15, 1814. The convention issued a recommendation for the restriction of the powers of the federal government.

It Says Here:

—By KEN WOODMAN

THE CHRISTMAS shopping traffic which jammed the city's downtown streets last week points again to the fact that Mansfield thoroughfares were never designed for 1946 vehicular traffic. What conditions will be like 10 years from now makes the imagination groan.

* * *

Of course, Mansfield is not alone with this problem. Practically every city in the country is faced with the same difficulties—lack of parking space, too-narrow downtown streets, and hopeless rush-hour traffic tangles.

* * *

Many streets here as elsewhere cannot very well be widened in the heart of the business district. The answer seems to be the complete elimination of curb parking in congested areas. And to do this adequate, convenient and cheap parking space will have to be provided either by municipalities or private enterprise. If "skyscraper parking" can be made to show a profit there's a wide-open business field waiting to be filled

Danger Seen In Proposed Loan of Billion Dollars To Help Germany

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—In 1935, emotional, likeable New York banker James Warburg, former friend of Franklin Roosevelt, wrote a book, "Hell-bent For Election," castigating the financial policies of the president in whose Brain Trust he had served. Next election Jimmy was back in the Roosevelt camp, urging FDR for a third term.

Today, some insiders think Jimmy Warburg, once the violent foe of Germany, must be preparing to write a new book: "Hell-bent For Rebuilding Germany."

Warburg represents a growing group of state department-Wall Street thinkers, passionately bent on making Germany a strong buffer state against the onrush of Russian Communism. In 1932, just a few months before Hitler came into power, the same Jimmy Warburg dined with a group of Jewish tycoons in Germany, then secretly financing Hitler to be a bulwark against Communism. And while Warburg—as far as this writer knows—did not participate in that financing, he did have concrete evidence that the German leopard does not change his spots.

PEARSON

Jimmy Warburg, however, is not alone. Also dining in New York the other night with a confidential group of bigwigs was Ernest Bevin, foreign minister of Britain. He said in brief:

"France is going Communist. But if we build up Germany we can hold Europe against the Russians."

All this is behind the little-noticed plan to spend one billion dollars of the taxpayers' money refinancing Germany. The money is to go out in smaller chunks than one billion, thus will not seem so great. However, tentative plans for this financing already have been worked out by jovial RFC Director George Allen and Assistant Secretary of War Peterson following their return from Germany.

History Repeats.

After World War I, American bankers poured millions into Germany—millions entrusted to their care by small American investors. It was this money that Germany used to pay French reparations, and in addition to build swimming pools, construct new highways and modernize cities. It was Wall Street adviser John Foster Dulles who urged that this money be invested in Germany and kept reassuring the American public that Germany was a sound risk.

In the end the bankers were able to salvage part of their short-term credits—which would have been their own direct loss. But the long-term loans, held by the American investing public and on which the bankers merely collected a commission, today are still in Germany in the form of smashed cities, gutted factories and the general rubble of war.

There is no question but that U. S. money, invested by a gullible public and greedy bankers not only rebuilt Germany but helped finance her machinery for war.

Today the state and war departments have quietly prepared a new plan for rebuilding Germany, once again highly recommended by John Foster Dulles, but with two variations:

1. Likeable White House jokester George Allen will front for the present German deal, instead of the slightly malodorous bankers.
2. The U. S. government will loan the money direct, instead of through the bankers; thus it will come from all the taxpayers instead of from the general investors.

Helping French Communism.

However, there is one basic factor which the John Foster Dulleses and the Jimmy Warburgs and the state department forgot after World War I and which they are forgetting all over again today. They ignore the fact that the more you rebuild Germany the more you alienate France.

Today they are worried sick over the possibility that France may go Communist. That worry is justified. But they are not helping the situation by aiding Germany.

Also they should have begun their worrying back in the days when the state department's Bob Murphy was bowing and scraping to Vichyites while thumbing his nose at General deGaulle. Or they should have begun worrying back in the days when Cordell Hull sneered at deGaulle's struggling forces as the "so-called Free French."

Today, the same state department advisers who made these tragic errors are still giving the same backstage advice. And the tragic policy of rebuilding Germany instead of helping France—repeated all over again—will only hasten the day when France is completely Communist.

Navy Dumps Food.

It has just leaked out that last June, while the butcher shops were nearly empty and housewives were begging for meat, the navy buried over 82,000 pounds of meat and fish.

This sizable amount of food had been allowed to spoil; so navy bulldozers were ordered to dig trenches near Camden, Ark., and the food was buried. Hog farmers, dog-food manufacturers and circus suppliers, all of whom could have used the food, were given no chance to bid.

The navy's explanation is that the Golden Commissary Corp. of Washington, D. C., under contract to feed 23,000 men constructing Camp Shumaker at Camden, Ark., was left with a large amount of food on hand. Comdr. C. E. Spellman, in charge of construction, turned over the food to Capt. C. E. Lewis, commander of the ammunition depot. Part of it was stored for a year, and part turned back to Comdr. Spellman. Finally, in June, 1946, the food was inspected by medical authorities and as a result of this buck passing, pronounced unfit for human consumption. The navy also states that this food was only six-tenths of 1 per cent of the food handled at Camp Shumaker.

The food which was allowed to go to waste, however, would make any housewife's mouth water. It included 746 pounds of bacon; 1,221 pounds of salami; 2,738 pounds of bologna—none of which spoil easily.

There was also 2,877 pounds of roast beef, 2,738 pounds of chopped beef, 1,209 pounds of beef liver, 2,291 pounds of lamb, 3,865 pounds of veal, 29,194 pounds of boiling beef, and 3,290 pounds of frankfurters.

It also seems peculiar that the medical officer should have condemned certain canned goods which do not spoil readily and such things as paper napkins which do not spoil at all. However, included in the consignment which was buried were: Two cartons of paper napkins, four gallons of India relish, two gallons of dill pickles, 21 cases of lunch meat, twenty pounds of cheese hoops, 192 cases of spinach and several cases of beets.

Damon Runyon Thought Himself a Failure.

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON—If the readers will bear with a bit of maudlin sentimentality, this is a story devoted to the departure of a friend.

His name is Damon Runyon.

He died a few days ago, and I guess his death was duly noted in the news stories and obituary columns. It wouldn't have mattered, anyway.

For Damon Runyon was beyond news stories and obituary columns. He cannot die and isn't dead, because he has—not "had" you understand — the thing we all strive for.

Immortality, I mean.

He never knew he had it, which perhaps is the sad thing. Like Ernie Pyle, who is—not "was" you understand — one of my best friends, Runyon was fated to feel himself always a failure.

Not long ago, a book of his hit the bookstores. Reviewing it in his own daily column, Damon damned it as a perfect example of a man who "carries water on both shoulders." He seemed to regret horribly the fact that he hadn't set out to crusade for the things he thought were right. He seemed to feel that his was a wasted life.

The gist of that bitterly cynical review of his own work seemed to shout that he considered himself a man who had sold his birthright for a mess of something less than pottage—that he deeply and shakenly regretted not having become one of those who sell a sermon with every story.

From far away, I read that review and clipped and saved it. It is seldom that you see an honest man bare his soul for the world to see. Damon Runyon did that.

He seemed to feel that he was at fault because he had taken good pay for writing popular columns and stories through the years without including a moral in each one. He seemed to feel that he had failed, because he had not picked a particular political creed and followed it in every line of fact or fiction that he wrote.

He seemed to feel that he had cheapened the talent that was his by not contributing daily, weekly and monthly to a cause that he approved.

Which means that Damon Runyon though himself a failure . . .

Somewhere in Valhalla, Damon Runyon roams the streets, perhaps, in that sanctuary reserved for errant newsmen and writers, there are editions of celestial newspapers which are picked up at the corner newsstands by the inveterate stay-out-lates—such as Damon.

I hope so, and I hope that the edition Runyon picks up carries this story, for I want to tell him something.

I want to tell him that for nearly three years I roamed the world without finding even a medium-sized city which didn't have a bookstore with a Runyon book on the shelves.

England, Africa, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland—even in Germany, it was all the same. Always, in every language, there were Runyon books, and there were people who felt that Harry the Horse and Little Isadore were practically their next-door neighbors.

To them, Runyon had brought, not only entertainment, but also a feeling of fellowship for the human race. Perhaps the entertainment was predominant, but the feeling of fellowship was there, just the same.

And that is what I doubt that Runyon ever knew . . .

Undoubtedly he died, not knowing what he had contributed to the American scene for all the world to see. And up there in Valhalla, he must be arguing that he was a failure, that he didn't preach every time he touched a typewriter.

And I only hope that the men with whom he's arguing — you know, Edgar Allen Poe, O. Henry, Stephen Foster and the rest—finally convince him that he did more than somewhat all right, just as he was . . . Damon Runyon, plain or ala carte . . .

Listen World!

A Prayer That Expresses a Need.

By ELSIE ROBINSON.

I AM quoting a prayer from "Your Life" with a certain personal pride about which I'll tell you later.

Once in the history of America the Sioux were a great and wise tribe. They brought their young people up the hard way and they produced as brave men and women as America has ever known. We think harshly of the Sioux because of Custer's last stand, but the Sioux was fighting bravely for his last frontier and we should forget our hate. After all, it was his country.

The Sioux had many tribal traditions. They believed in God, probably far more sincerely than we do today, for God to them lived in everything from the smallest bird to the tallest mountain. And they had prayers for everything. Here is one of their prayers:

Great Spirit, help me never to judge another until I have walked two weeks in his moccasins.

That is one of the deepest thoughts I know and to the Sioux it was as the living word. And never has America so needed that prayer.

For we are passing through a period of unprecedented intolerance and misjudgment. We who founded this country on religious freedom are now, in the name of religion, spreading hate and discord. We are seething with malice. We are a disgrace to those who carved our way. Never before have we so needed to cry to God—"Great Spirit, help me never to judge another until I have walked two weeks in his moccasins."

For what can you know of that other unless you have walked in his moccasins? What can you know of the fear or frustration which cower behind his eyes? What can you know of the hopelessness that lies unburied in your neighbor's heart. You think she is simply lazy, slatternly, indifferent?

Do you know of the grief that goes with her day and night? Do you know of the sense of frustration? Do you know what one encouraging word would mean to her? Have you ever offered that word?

"Great Spirit, help me never to judge another until I have walked two weeks in his moccasins"—until I have known the burden he carries inwardly, the pain he is born with, until I too have felt his weakness and his fear.

I said that I felt a special pride in quoting this prayer and the reason is that my uncle married a Sioux and my cousin is a Sioux. My uncle ran away from home in the early days of Dakota and became a blood brother to the Sioux and there never was a boy better brought up. He was an interpreter at Custer's last stand and a friend to both Indians and Americans.

When I think of that prayer I think of him—I think of those millions of brave bronze men who were his blood kin. I am glad of that bond with old America and that is more than I can say about our present generation.

Dave Boone Says:

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER JR'S offer to give an eight-and-a-half-million-dollar permanent home to UN on New York's east side waterfront, smack between Beekman Place and Tudor City, ought to stymie Philadelphia and other points seeking to be the world capital. My only objection to the site would be that it might be taken as really putting the world peace builders in dead-end streets.

There are too many indications that that's where they are right now.

* * *

I hear Miss United Nations is barely able to sit up today. She was knocked pretty groggy by the experience of somebody offering her $8,500,000 for a home in the city when so many people were even against letting her live in the country.

Once again the Rockefeller family rings the bell for top-notch public spirit and genuine philanthropy. It sort of flattens the prevalent notion that it's a terrible thing for anybody to have money.

Timely Editorial

Will Man Learn In Time?

The group of scientists headed by Albert Einstein, who are seeking $1,000,000 to educate the public to the destructive potentialities of atomic bombs, are thinking in the right direction.

Outside of the scientists, and the Japanese, who had personal contact with atomic bombs at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, a dangerous skepticism exists regarding this new weapon.

A-bombs, according to those who know, can now be made cheaply and in large numbers. They will become more destructive. Other nations can discover the secret of manufacturing them. There is no military defense against them. And "atomic war" would "surely destroy our civilization." The only solution is international control of atomic energy.

The education of the public in this and other countries to these facts is worth many times the million dollars for which these scientists are appealing.—Miami Herald.

As Others See It

Peculiar Situation.

Taking statistics and the findings of city planners together, we stumble on to a stupefying picture. Big cities, it seems, are becoming bigger and more obsolete all the time.—Detroit News.

Procrastination.

It seems we're always investigating something in this country, and yet, somehow, as in the case of tragedies, we get started too late.—Dayton News.

ODD FACT

About 30,000 tons of readily available uranium is the scientists' estimate of the world's known deposits as of the present.

TEEN TALK

By BARBARA BAILEY

"The cold winds doth blow"—and with winter here at last the lads at Senior high look as warm as can be with their bright plaid shirts. The colors are enough to make anybody hot.

* * *

Definitely on the beam are those snappy reindeer sweaters the boys are wearing. Just the thing for those skiing parties during vacation.

* * *

FASHION FAVORITES—preferances at Senior high — brown-eyed Margaret Burger thinks there's nothing better for school than a short sleeved sweater and a skirt, especially if they're blue . . . Peppy Doris Alverson is partial to red skirts and blouses; not any shade of red, though; it must be fire-engine red . . . To Jean Daughterty a powder blue sports dress is simply dreamy . . . Both Julia Colby and Sally Rusk favor the classic sweaters and skirts. Petite, blond Julia thinks blue is out of this world while attractive Sally is most susceptible to red.

* * *

Senior sidelights—parties, parties, parties. When, where, what, and who's going is the talk of the schools. The Christmas holidays are going to be a mad whirl. More about gala affairs later.

Jan. 16 there will be a combined guild and congregational dinner with Mrs. Clarke Custer in charge. There will be installation of officers.

Mothers Circle Holds Dinner

Plans were made for Christmas aid to five families.

Do you know why the pussy cat washed himself so often? LULLABY, by Josephine Bernhard, tells why. On the first Christmas night the baby Jesus couldn't go to sleep. Mary, his mother, asked the animals to sing a soft lullaby to him. The donkey tried. Can a donkey sing a soft lullaby? The cow tried. Can a cow sing a soft lullaby? Mary called the cat to try. But the cat was dirty. He could not go near the baby when he was dirty. So he washed himself first. At last he was ready to sing. Then the cat purred and purred a soft lullaby and the baby Jesus slept. And ever since then the cat is always washing himself so that he will be clean and never keep a baby waiting again. Irena Lorentowicz has drawn some lovely pictures in bright colors to go with the story.

A TURKEY FOR CHRISTMAS, by Marguerite DeAngeli, is another new Christmas story. Said papa, "It comes down to this: either we have a few small gifts or we have a turkey for Christmas. We can't have both. Now which do you choose?" "Turkey" was the answer from all the children. Afterward Bess wasn't sure they had chosen right. Christmas without presents would be funny. She tried to make at least one gift, but she was clumsy, and nothing would come right. Her effort was rewarded. There were some gifts from Grandpa and Grandma, she did manage to finish her one gift. And, then, as a surprise they all got the very best possible gift of all.

Penny and Nick were eganaps and they lived in an eganahpro. At least that's what they said in fun because it didn't sound so bad as being orphans and living in an orphanage. Turning words around didn't really make them happy so they decided to run away. Running away wasn't easy. There was some hard sailing to be done, and a lot of rowing, too. Penny and Nick worked hard. There was excitement, too, especially when Nick decided to catch an alligator. Robb White wrote THE LION'S PAW and you can read it. You'll find excitement and suspense, and a good ending.

"Old Con and Patrick," by Ruth Sawyer. Pat had infantile paralysis and had to use crutches. They didn't stop him, he couldn't run bases so he umpired the "gang's" ball games. His pet blue jay made a good mascot.

"Rock Crystal," by Adalbert Stifter. Conrad and Sanna were lost on the mountain. There was a storm and it was bitter cold but it didn't occur to the children that they might never be found. They helped each other and waited for the Christmas miracle. The miracle came and the children's faith was rewarded by the added miracle of their safety.

MARY MARTHA CIRCLE.

Mrs. E. L. Smith was elected president of the Mary Martha circle of the First English Lutheran church at the meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Wingert, Glessner avenue. Other officers were Mrs. Thomas Blizzard, vice president; and Mrs. H. G. Miller, secretary-treasurer. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Gust Helsel, Miss Carol Sturgeon and Mrs. John Packham. Prizes were won by Mrs. E. H. Bricker, Mrs. Woodrow Mahl and Miss Hazel Lomax.

Physicists Simply Can't Stop Those Earth-Shaking Tremors

WASHINGTON — (AP) — For years physicists and other persons who make a business of probing world-shaking problems have been trying to find a way to prevent earthquakes.

No one has ever approached an answer, and the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey wants us to know that it makes no claims either on how to prevent earthquakes or to predict them.

Comdr. Elliott B. Robert, in charge of the division of Geomagnetism and Seismolog of the Survey, says that all it can do is to state "probabilities in certain areas as against improbabilities in other areas"

More specifically, the Coast and Geodetic Survey for the past three years has had a representative working throughout the American republics to "encourage expansion and more effective cooperation" in seismological investigations.

* * *

Physicist Franklin P. Ulrich is the representative. One of his jobs has been to discuss with engineers and architects the program in the United States for adequate earthquake resistant construction and to assist the various republics in obtaining information on the subject.

He says it has been estimated that approximately 50,000 persons have been killed annually during the past 100 years in earthquakes, mainly because of poor construction.

He adds that there is no doubt that much of the property loss, which has run into billions of dollars, could have been avoided by building to withstand earthquakes.

* * *

Currently under discussion is the possible formation of a central seismological (earthquake recording) organization in the Western Hemisphere and the setting up of a permanent international organization to assure continuity of its program.

Mr. Ulrich says that at the present time a construction boom is in progress throughout practically the entire world, and the available information on earthquakes is not sufficient for the officials who have to include provisions for earthquake-resistant design in the building codes.

It is estimated that the number of teachers in U. S. elementary and high schools dropped from 927,000 in 1941 to 868,000 in 1944-45.

Swiss Keep Their Ammunition Ready

RUETIL, Switzerland — (AP) — Switzerland is keeping her wartime reserves of ammunition, the Swiss president, Dr. Karl Kobelt, told the country's marksmen. Cartridges issued for military schools and target clubs must be replaced by immediate manufacture.

The president added "we must figure on the possibility that under future war developments our army must step directly from mobilization into combat, without opportunity for a training period to overcome neglect."

SHOULD HAVE STAYED

DENVER —(AP)— R. T. McCluskey, a flower shop operator, said goodbye to his partner, Adolph Geisert, and set off to hunt pheasants far from the city. A few minutes after he left, a pheasant crashed through a front window of the shop. Geisert retrieved it.

TAPPAN YULE PARTY SET FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Workers to See Vaudeville Shows at Ohio Theater, As Guests of Firm.

Tappan Stove company employes had their fingers crossed today as plans were being pushed for the company's annual Christmas party Thursday.

The parties were abandoned during the war and last year—when the first post-war affair could have been held—a flu and scarlet fever epidemic forced cancellation.

If fate is kind this year the two-shift party will be held at the Ohio theater with the first show beginning at 4:30 p. m., and the second at 7:30 p. m.

Employes of the first and third shifts and their families will attend the afternoon performance while second shift and office employes and their families, will see the evening show.

The party will be highlighted by a Chicago professional troupe consisting of five acts. They include a circus act of ladder balancers, one of America's ace performers on the unicycle, a comedy tramp juggler, the Strong family in unique rope demonstrations and an interesting dog act.

Santa Claus will appear with gifts for all children attending the party.

Arrangements have been made to show a special technicolor cartoon.

Speros Karas and his 14-piece orchestra will lend the local talent and musical background for both shows.

Members of the committee are: Nick Weber, Stan Ginneter, John Hoff jr., Jack Lyons, Harry Miller, Donna Vaneff, Charles Tucker, Wayne Terry, George Condos and Richard Creveling.

CHURCH CIRCLE TO MEET

MILLERSBURG—Circle No. 4 WSCS, of the M. E. church, will meet with Mrs. Warren Palmer, leader, at the home of Mrs. A. T. Cole, North Clay street, at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday. Mrs. Herbert Drushell will have charge of the program.

SHE TRICKS THIEF; HOLDS ONTO CASH

Mrs. Roma Prosser, 172 Rowland avenue, outfoxed a purse thief yesterday, according to police reports.

Cash, which the thief apparently expected to find in the purse, was in Mrs. Prosser's hand. Payment was stopped on a $22.50 check which was in the purse.

Surgeon Says Mansfield Trees Dying, Neglected

ZERBY URGES CITY TO NAME TREE DOCTOR

Municipality Faces Suits for Tree Damage.

By AL PREYER

Mansfield, a city known for its beautiful trees, is slowly losing this nature-bestowed attribute because of lack of proper care, William H. Zerby, a local tree surgeon believes.

Zerby has made an extensive collection of photographs to back up his argument. They show dead, dying, and damaged trees which, heclaims, are not only eye sores to the community but often dangerous.

"Central park, the first thing the new arrival to Mansfield sees, daily offers evidence of the continued deterioration of trees and shrubs which could have been and may still be prevented by prompt, adequate and proper care," Zerby said.

* * *

ZERBY POINTED TO DAMage suits pending against the city as the result of falling trees. "Should the city lose these cases the judgments would almost pay the cost of a city tree surgeon for a year," he said.

"The News-Journal carried an editorial not so long ago on 'Objection to Tree Butchery'," Zerby continued. "The appointment of a trained man could have prevented this butchery."

Zerby said that he had recently talked with Mayor Roy W. Vaughn concerning the appointment of a tree surgeon. "The mayor said that a copy of a tree and shrub ordinance from Piqua had been submitted to city council for study."

The mayor also showed him a copy of a city ordinance, passed in 1886, relating to the care of trees, Zerby said. The wording of the ordinance made it difficult to determine responsibility for the care of trees along public right-of-ways, the mayor said.

It was further pointed out that under the present set-up in Mansfield responsibility for the care of trees is placed on the property owner, city, park commission and the board of education.

"MAYOR VAUGHN WAS VERY sympathetic to my plan," Zerby said, 'but pointed out that he could not take action—it was a matter for the council."

Zerby explained his program to council recently and advocated that something be done to set the wheels in motion toward greater care of the city's trees. The matter was referred to the street committee without discussion.

Edward Wyllie, vice president of the parks commission, when approached by a representative of Zerby, said: "It would seem that a forestry department, created within the city government, would eliminate the need for decisions as to whether property owner, city, park commission, or board of education was responsible for the care of various trees and shrubbery by putting all of them under the department. This would bring better co-ordination between property owners and the city as to planning and maintenance of trees and shrubbery with the resultant increase in the beauty of Mansfield. Under the present plan, this is difficult if not impossible."

ZERBY POINTED OUT THAT "local governments don't permit property owners to choose the size or type of sewer and water pipes they will use, or to decide the width and thickness of pavement in front of their homes. Planned communities do not permit property owners to select the size, variety, and location of street trees," he contended. "Well planned communities provide for the trees and their care in addition to formulating sound policies and providing for their enforcement to obtain the most harmonious results.

"It seems to me," Zerby said. "that all I have talked to believe that something should be done. The question is one of divided, unclear responsibility, and the lack of trained personnel and funds to do the job.

"Mansfield has always been justly proud of its trees and shrubbery. Without proper attention, and soon, by competent tree experts, this pride is due for a fall. I hope to enlist enough support from tree lovers to prevent this from happening."

IT COULD HAVE BEEN PREVENTED—W. H. Zerby, Mansfield tree expert, leans against a dying tree in South park. Prompt and proper care could have prevented this loss, Zerby claims. An illustration of improper care is furnished (center photo) by this tree in Central park which is dying because a limb was torn off rather than trimmed properly. The beautiful shade trees (right) overhanging Park avenue west near Bowman street are in danger because of improper care. Zerby claims trees such as these can't be replaced overnight and Mansfielders must give serious thought to the preservation of one of the city's nature bestowed attributes, Zerby belives.

$50,000 Damage Action Settled

A $50,000 suit filed in Richland county common pleas court July 3, 1945, by Harold L. Zimmerman of Mansfield against the Modern Motor Express Trucking company of Cleveland has been settled out of court records in the clerk's office showed yesterday.

Zimmerman sought damages for injuries as the result of an auto-truck accident on the Ashland hill Dec. 30, 1945.

BAD HARVEST

LONDON — Britain's National Farmers' Union described this year's harvest in Britain as the "worst since 1879" and added that the "winter outlook is grim." In a statement issued recently the N. F. U. pointed out that the serious shortage of skilled farm labor and machinery is accentuating the already acute anxiety over the spoiled harvest.

Vets Boss Themselves—

Vet Buys a Grocery Store So He Can Boss Himself

John C. Wolf, this week's "veteran in business," explains he had "an urge to be my own boss" and he recalled some "earlier pleasant experiences in the grocery business" which prompted him to seek a store of his own.

Wolf and his wife have purchased the former Curtis Glenn grocery on the Ashland road, Lincoln Heights, and are busy adding to the good-will they inherited.

"It's a perfect set-up," Wolf replied when questioned about the customer reaction to the new management. "We couldn't ask for a better location. Fact of the matter is that we already need more room to expand our store," he said.

"We are regular suppliers of the Madison and Lincoln Heights schools as well as the Madison Booster and boys' and girls' athletic associations," Wolf explained.

Wolf, who is 30 years old, was born in Pennsylvania and came to Mansfield about 10 years ago.

"Before entering the armed forces in January, 1942, I was employed at Westinghouse," he related.

"After serving with the artillery in the Philippines I was discharged from the service in November 1945, and returned to Mansfield. My wife and I decided on the grocery business and, after looking around for a while, we were fortunate in getting this spot."

The Wolfs have one child. They live at 47 Gibson avenue.

HARVEY HILL, Richland county dog warden, (left) is being sold on "taking in" a baby panda bear by John C. Wolf, grocer, veteran in business for himself.

Henkel, Gongwer Dissolve Firm

The law partnership of Henkel and Gongwer will be dissolved Dec. 31, the firm announced yesterday.

Atty. C. H. Henkel will continue to occupy offices at 408 Farmers Bank building and Atty. J. H. Gongwer will remain in the offices at 407 in the same building.

Attorneys Henkel and Gongwer have been associated in law practice in Mansfield since 1930.

SHIRT SLEEVE REBELLION

CUCUTA, Colombia —(AP)— Local movie theaters have been closed down by public request as a protest against the mayor's decree which forbids smoking, and attending in shirt sleeves.

Crawford Grand Jury Indicts 16

BUCYRUS — The Crawford county grand jury yesterday returned 16 bills of indictment, of which seven were secret, after examining 52 witnesses in 24 cases in a three-day session. No bills were returned in eight cases.

The jury also recommended that a new floor and linoleum be installed in the upstairs hall of the jail and in the womens' quarters. They asked that the kitchen be painted and that commissioners carry out plans for repairing the exterior of the jail.

FARM OUTLOOK LOOKS BRIGHT THROUGH 1947

Surveys Indicate Earnings, Prices Will Remain High At Least Another Year.

By GEORGE B. GANYARD
(County Extension Agent)

High on the list of dry reading is the information published as "Agricultural Outlook." Yet in it is to be found a better than guessing guide to prospects for 1947 in farming Let's take a peek at how it is built

Agricultural economists from all over the land meet in October each year. Each has the facts on production, supplies and conditions in his area. Through committees, they boil these facts down into a clear picture of the present, they take a look at the past and then make some estimates about what may be expected in the future. That's where the name 'outlook' comes in.

The Ohio edition of the Outlook is prepared by Rural Economists at Ohio State university For 1947, it covers some 40 mimeographed pages Printed copies will be available at the extension office soon. A sketchy idea of it follows

Everybody wants to buy lots of things. How much they can pay for depends upon price and upon how much money they have with which to buy. Production is increasing, wages are increasing, prices are rising. How high will these things go? When will the bubble burst? That is the No 1 question for farmers as well as other producers and consumers.

In times of rapid shift from war to peace, too many unknown factors exist to make the picture clear. But the guess is for industrial production, employment, and payrolls to keep climbing until late in 1947. This means increasing prices and strong demand for food which the farmer has to sell Farmers' selling prices hit the peak in October, 1946, and are wavering in a downward direction now.

* * *

Dollars Worth Less.

If everyone keeps busy, he will want to buy so much that farm product prices will stay up and the farmer might handle even more dollars in 1947 than in 1916 But the prices the farmer pays for what he buys are going up faster, so his dollars won't buy as much as they did last year.

For the livestock farmer, things look good for the first half of 1947. There's more feed available per unit of livestock than at any time in 27 years. The small crop of little pigs this fall means good prices when they hit the market next summer The cattle market will be strong for the same reason. But this big supply of feed will encourage breeding of more sows to farrow in the spring of '47, and that means more pork in the market in the last half of next year—and that may drop prices of all meat.

* * *

Dairy Output Up.

There are fewer dairy cows, but production per cow is going up and this abundant feed supply will keep production up. Even so, except for the spring flush season, there won't be too much dairy production, if people keep busy.

Poultry meat won't enjoy the boom it had under meat control, and eggs are likely to lean on support prices pretty heavily. But the feed situation will help keep costs down. Turkeys will continue their popularity.

Sheep and lamb numbers are low, and prices should hold well next year The world supply of wool is largest ever, and some weakening in price might be expected

Protein feeds are still in short supply and the soybean is in strong position until the oil supply gets up to normal

Price supports at 90 per cent of parity were promised farmers by congress for a period of two years after the war is officially declared ended. There's a lot of talk about what this congress will do about that Since farm output is up 30 per cent above prewar and export demands seem certain to diminish, a lot depends upon what kind of policy is adopted in the future. One fact is certain—only a fully employed people can buy all the food that is now being produced.

The whole thing sums up to this: all these guesses are made on the assumption that everybody's going to be hustling to turn out goods that people are waiting for, at prices they feel they can pay. If anything happens to stop the activity, then these guesses go out the window. It's a good time to pay off debts and to be cautious about assuming debt on the strength of present high prices. Study the past

VFW SELECTS NAMES OF POST IN NEW LONDON

James J. Eccles Selected Commander.

NEW LONDON — The newly-formed Veterans of Foreign Wars group here has been named Pheifer-Mathers Post No. 8796, and James J. Eccles, veteran of World War I and II, elected post commander.

The post was named in honor of Robert S. Pheifer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pheifer, who was lost aboard a submarine in Pacific waters, and Lt. Theodore Mathers, who lived here in his childhood and was killed in action over Germany.

Eccles, the new commander, served with the army in the first World War and in World War II was a chief petty officer in the navy.

He holds the distinction of being the only New London father who served in the armed forces with three sons.

Other officers named are Jay Thomas, senior vice commander; Forrest Dill, junior vice commander; Ralph H. Greene, chaplain; Arvin Emerson, advocate; Robert Harner, adjutant; Walter Shafer, quartermaster, and George Parks, Frank Martin and Jesse Swanger, trustees.

During the organization of the post, it has been meeting in Moose hall. In the near future, however, the post will move into its new quarters in the W. R. C. hall on North Main street.

SHELBY EMPLOYES GET $100 INCREASE

SHELBY — Approximately 70 full-time employes of the Shelby public schools yesterday received $100 a piece as a wage increase, Supt. Byron H. Carmean announced.

Approved by the Shelby board of education, the increase was made through the anticipated revenue to come from a two-mill operating levy which carried for the schools at the November election.

A revised salary program is being mapped out by the board for this spring, when the teachers and other employes renew their contracts for the 1947-48 school term, Carmean said. All full-time employes received the $100, while bus drivers received $25.

During the German occupation, 3,000,000 of Greece's 16,000,000 acres of timber were hacked away to make winter quarters for Germans on the Russian front.

Area Towns Swing Into Holiday Spirit

PARTIES, GIFTS GREET APPROACH OF CHRISTMAS

Churches and Clubs Planning Appropriate Programs.

By NORMAN DRESSER
N-J State Editor

With Christmas little more than two weeks away, holiday parties are in full swing in Richland and surrounding counties.

Most churches and social organizations in the area are sponsoring card parties, gift exchanges or music programs appropriate to the season.

Other groups are planning Christmas parties for young people, with personal appearances by Santa Claus.

Many families, of course, will have reunions with friends and relatives from nearby areas during the ensuing three weeks.

A community - by - community compilation of pre-Christmas festivities follows:

* * *

CRESTLINE

The Crestline Kiwanis club will sponsor the first community Christmas carol "songfest" at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the high school auditorium.

Participating in the program are the high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. Gregg Pennington; the First English Lutheran church choir; the Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church choir; the First Methodist church choir, and Miss Jean Hoffman, violinist.

The Crestline Garden club held its Christmas party last week at the home of Mrs. L. A. West. Mrs. Elma Zimmerman spoke on "Seasonable Flowers."

The Gleaner's class of the Presbyterian church met Wednesday for its Christmas party. Santa Claus exchanged gifts with members.

* * *

SHELBY

A Christmas party will be held at 7 p. m. today by members of the Young Adult fellowship of the Methodist church. A pot luck supper will be served, and members will exchange gifts.

The Earnest Workers class of the First Lutheran church will hold its annual Christmas party at 2 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Elmer S. Olds.

Members of the Travel club of W. B. A. will hold a holiday party at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Margery Koontz on Franklin avenue. A covered dish supper will be served, and members will exchange gifts.

* * *

GALION

The annual Congregational turkey dinner will be held Wednesday in the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. J. Egner is general chairman of arrangements.

A visit from Santa Claus was the highlight of the Christmas party held at the County Children's home last Thursday. Sponsors were members of the Galion Business and Professional Women's club.

During the program the newly-organized glee club made its first appearance, singing a group of numbers with Mrs. Ella Geiger at the piano.

The children, under the direction of Marvin Adams, sang "Let a Little Sunshine In" and "The Hallelujah" chorus.

The Friday Afternoon club held its annual Christmas program at Hotel Talbott last week. Hostess was Mrs. Henry Knote.

* * *

MT. GILEAD

The holiday party of the T. P. Johnston post auxiliary of the American Legion will be held Wednesday in the club rooms.

In charge of arrangements are Mrs. Walter Osborn, Mrs. Edro James, Mrs. Robert Barler and Mrs. Willard Jackson.

Auxiliary members last week voted to donate $15 for the purchase of Christmas gifts for children in the Soldiers and Sailors home for children at Xenia.

Members of the Mt. Gilead high school chorus and other singers from the community will sing three choruses from Handel's Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," in a program in the high school auditorium Thursday night.

Other musical numbers will be given by the junior high and elementary choir. Wallace Hard will direct the senior choirs.

* * *

MILLERSBURG

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion will hold its annual Christmas party Thursday at the Legion rooms. A potluck supper will be served.

The Junior Westminster Fellowship society will meet in the First Presbyterian church parlor Wednesday evening for a Christmas party.

The senior society will meet Thursday evening in the parlors for a Christmas dinner, and next Sunday at 7:30 p. m. the Children's Christmas program will be presented in the church sanctuary.

* * *

NEW LONDON

The annual Christmasparty of the New London Parent-Teachers association will be held in the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening.

Members of the speech class will present a play entitled, "Pop Reads the Christmas Carol." The high school choral girl's club will sing, and mothers of fourth grade pupils will serve a luncheon that follows.

* * *

LEESVILLE

The choir of the Evangelical United Brethren church at Leesville will present the cantata, "Chimes of the Holy Night" next Sunday, Dec. 22, at 8 p. m.

The cantata was written by Von Berge and composed by Holton. It consists of 13 numbers.

Christopher Columbus visited England and sailed in northern seas before embarking upon his voyage of discovery to the New World.

SHAKEUP TAKES DEWEY BACKER FROM GOP STAFF

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In a Republican staff shakeup reportedly involving former Chairman Herbert Brownell's workers in the Dewey campaign, Miss Marion Martin resigned Saturday as assistant chairman of the national committee and head of the women's division.

The committee, announcing the resignation effective Jan. 1 after Miss Martin had disclosed it, said her assistant, Mrs. Jane Hamilton MacAuley, will take over direction of women's party work.

Miss Martin declined to comment on reports that her resignation had been asked by Chairman Carroll Reece.

Reece's election as chairman last spring generally is attributed to support given him by the Ohio forces backing Senator Robert A. Taft and Senator-Elect John W. Bricker, both potential presidential candidates in 1948.

There were reports that G. Don Louden, former editor of a Columbus, Ohio, AFL publication, who headed the committee's labor division under Brownell, would not be retained in the shakeup.

Reece insisted that any staff changes to be made have no bearing on the possible presidential aspirations of any Republican. He said he and Miss Martin had had no differences of opinion over policy matters.

Brownell, here for a gridiron club dinner, declined comment.

Committee attaches said Mrs. Katharine Kennedy Brown of Ohio, a vice chairman who is in the Taft-Bricker wing of the party, may take over some of the field work previously done by Miss Martin.

U. N. Sets Up 10-Nation Trusteeship Council

PRIMARY AIM TO AID MILLIONS GOVERN SELVES

Organ Rounds Out World Peace Organization Envisaged By Charter.

By MAX HARRELSON

NEW YORK —(AP)— The United Nations assembly Saturday set up a 10-nation trusteeship council whose primary aim is to bring independence eventually to millions of non-selfgoverning people throughout the world.

The new council, last major organ of the United Nations to be established, will round out the world peace organization envisaged by the U. N. charter, which now consists of the general assembly, security council, economic and social council, international court of justice and secretariat.

It will start modestly by supervising the administration of eight trust territories — all former league of nation mandates—embracing 15,000,000 inhabitants. Its sponsors hope, however, that it will some day have under its jurisdiction all or most of the hundreds of millions of persons who now lack full independence.

While the chief aim of the council is to see that all territories placed under its supervision advance progressively toward independence, its immediate task is to make sure that the trust territories are administered in the best interests of the inhabitants.

* * *

Mexico Admitted.

Final action creating the council was the assembly's election of Mexico and Iraq to fill two elective seats and complete the council's initial membership of 10. The other eight members got their seats automatically under terms of the charter.

Great Britain, France, Belgium, Australia and New Zealand get seats as administering members, since they are the mandatory powers which will actually administer the eight trust territories. The United States, Russia and China, as members of the big five, will sit on the council as non-administering powers. The charter requires that enough members be elected to keep an equal balance between administering and non-administering powers.

* * *

Membership To Change.

The membership on the council will change as additional trust territories are brought into the trusteeship system. For example, when the former Japanese mandated islands — the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas — are placed under the system, the United States will become an administering state. This will require the election of an additional non-administering member.

President Truman announced some weeks ago that the former Japanese mandates would be offered as "strategic area" trust territories in the immediate future.

The territories which go under jurisdiction of the trusteeship council immediately are: British Togoland, British Cameroons, Tanganyika. French Togoland, French Cameroons, Western Samoa (administered by New Zealand) New Guinea (administered by Australia) and Ruanda-Urundi (administered by Belgium).

In another trusteeship action today the assembly rejected, by a vote of 37 to 0, the union of South Africa's request for annexation of the former mandated territory of southwest Africa and recommended that the territory be placed under U. N trusteeship.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE CHRISTMAS to make the youngsters' eyes open wide in wonder at the stocks of gaily painted toys and dispositions sugared just a bit in expectation of a visit from Santa Claus. Sometimes the tiny tots are afforded a chance for a personal chat with the Grand Old Man of Christmas, if the weather and time permit an early start with the reindeers from the North Pole. It looks like Santa did arrive early this year for here (top left) the old gentleman is being given a big sales talk by a little visitor in Kobacker's. Never taking his eyes off the white-bearded figure, the youngster perched atop Santa's knee and reeled off the list of things he hopes to find under his tree Christmas morning. And he didn't forget to say he was a good boy, either! It certainly wouldn't be hard for a fellow to believe he was riding in the Kentucky derby on such a handsome steed as Tommy Miller, 4, found in the Penn Auto store, (top right). All set for the big turn just before the home stretch, Tommy grips the rein (and the horse's ear) as he keeps eyes peeled for the stopper's checkered flag. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Miller, 583 Cline avenue. Roberta Miller, 5, and Gary Orock, 2, go for a bouncing canter (lower left) on their springy teeter-like "Bouncing Horses." Roberta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Miller, 392 Emmet street, Shelby; and Gary is the son of J. F. Orock, Mansfield, R. D. 4. "Please tell Santa to bring me this for Christmas," tiny Kay Russell's eyes seem to be pleading as she hugs the "Jitterbug" doll, almost as big as she, lower right. The blond, blue-eyed youngster who will be two years old in January, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell, 189 West Main street, Shelby. (News-Journal staff photos by George Petrovic).

CIO UNIONS MAP PLAN THIS WEEK

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Labor's demands on management, as seen by representatives of 2,350,000 workers, will be formulated next week when the leaders of the CIO's three biggest unions gather around a common conference table and draw up plans for future contract negotiations.

The week-long session will bring together Philip Murray, head of the 853,000 United Steel Workers; Walter Reuther, president of the 900,000 United Auto Workers; Albert Fitzgerald, chief officer of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine workers Union with its 600,000 members, and other men high in the executive circles of the three organizations.

Murray, also president of the CIO, pretty much wove the general pattern for new pay demands recently when he announced the CIO unions will use as their "guidepost" a survey that contended salaries can be boosted up to 25 per cent without increasing prices or reducing profits much below the wartime peaks.

Reuther gave added impetus to the pattern Thursday in New York when he said the auto workers would demand an hourly increase of 23½ cents. UAW wage negotiations already are underway with Chrysler, Packard, Kaiser-Fraser and Hudson and are due to start with General Motors in the spring.

The procedure for the conferences call for Murray, Reuther, Fitzgerald and a few of their chief aides to meet informally on Monday. Out of the session probably will come the thoughts that will guide other groups through the remainder of the meetings.

MHS Student Council to Sponsor Magic Show In Assembly Jan. 10

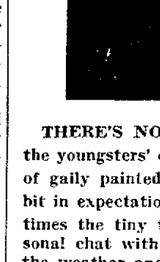
By DAVID BARNHILL

The Student Representative council will sponsor an assembly program on Jan. 10 featuring Leeston's "Magic Show," Joanne Fay, SRC president, announced at a regular meeting of the group last week.

The program is not the usual type of magic show. The supernatural is brought to play on the minds of the audience with illusions and ghosts appearing right in front of those assembled.

A price of fifteen cents was established as the cost of admission to this program, and all the profit will go toward a fund for the purchase of a new movie projector for the school.

Also at the meeting it was learned that "State Fair," which had been scheduled for a movie assembly, was canceled because it has not been shown at all local theaters.



BARNHILL

An election for an alternate secretary for the SRC resulted in Coleen Messmore being chosen to fill the position.

Two new projects were started by the SRC. One was to look into the possibilities for a student mailbox at the school, and the other was to investigate the matter of posting prices in the cafeteria in order to eliminate confusion there.

LIMA—Scoring nine points in the last three minutes of the game, the Mansfield Tygers overpowered Lima South, 42-37, for their third win of the year, here last night.

Little Tommy Bloor put the Tygers out in front, 3-0, early in the game, but the South cagers broke out in a scoring attack and led, 17-9, at the end of the first quarter.

Nick Gagich, who missed the Cleveland Collinwood contest because of a boil infection, played most of the game and paced the Tygers along with Bloor. Each had 10 points. Bob Williams was high for South with five field goals.

The Tygers trailed, 24-16, at the intermission and broke out in a basket rash to tie the score, 28 all, at the beginning of the final frame.

South once more took command and paced the fighting Bengals 37-33, with less than five minutes remaining. Then the Tygers took over after Bloor sank a one hander.

Sisco scored two on a fast break, and Bloor came back with another of his famous one handed push shots.

With only seconds left Gagich split the nets on a deceptive pass from under the basket and Majors sank a foul shot.

The Tygers scored eight out of 10 foul shots while Lima got three for 11.

Coach Fred Staub's Tyger Cubs lost, 40-17. South led, 6-2, 19-5, and 27-14.

About Tyger Football Receipts, Construction Of Stadium, Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

MANSFIELD SENIOR HIGH football profits for the 1946 season were more than sufficient to pay operating expenses and obligations on notes that were let on the new Tyger athletic plant. . . . Money left over goes to the support of Bengal track, baseball and boxing teams. . . . Basketball is self-supporting. . . . And all of this in an out-moded stadium, with limited seating capacity. . . . Receipts for the season totaled $30,189.41 with $5,484.71 going on for amusement tax. . . . Season's tickets pulled in $11,225 with the Massillon contest drawing $6,144.98. . . . Incidentally the largest crowd in Stadium field's history, more than 9,000 including paying and non-paying followers, watched the Massillon contest. . . . Remembering that the present plant has only 4,000 permanent seats. . . . Gates for other games were: Sandusky, $3,024.90; Marion Harding, $3,017.13, Cleveland East, $2,849.25, and Youngstown Rayen, $1,427.40. . . . Remainder of the receipts came from concessions, reserve games and guarantees. . . . Expenses reached $12,287.49 with the top outlay going for expenses ($3,207.89) and traveling ($2,716.17) . . . Mansfield paid $1,600 guarantees to the five teams that appeared at the Tyger lair. . . . Receipts will swell to approximately $14,000 when profits from student activity books are turned over to the athletic fund. . . . Final payment ($9,690) on real estate, including interest, has been paid.

* * * * *

PRESENT PLANS call for at least 8,000 seats at the new stadium for the 1947 season . . . North stands will be completed by February with the weather permitting . . . Concrete is being poured on the last tier now . . . Ticket-for-interest bond drive has accounted for approximately $35,000 so far . . . ($500 lenders receive two season tickets in a preferred location in lieu of interest for the tenure of their note) . . . Ten rows on the South side, seating 2,000, will be erected and should be finished sometime in the summer . . . Cost of construction on the 10 rows is $29,000 . . . Work on the last 20 rows of seats, dressing, equipment and band rooms will commence if Dr. D. A. Weir's committee is successful in raising the $115,000 additional funds needed to complete Ohio's finest high school football stadium . . . Fred Staub, faculty manager, and Paul Snyder, coach, plan to play seven games in the stadium next fall.

CUFF STUFF: Mansfield Tire and Rubber company plans a "shoot" for employes at the Mansfield Gun club, Route 30-S, sometime in January . . . The competition will be staged on a Sunday and a Tire gun club will be organized if enough interest is shown . . . Ed Barker, secretary of the Ohio high school track coaches association, has forwarded a letter of commendation to Harry Mehock, who directed the recent state cross country meet . . . Says Barker, in part, "It was the best cross country meet we have ever had and all of the coaches were well satisfied with the organization of the meet." . . . Mehock, director of athletics in Mansfield schools, reports that local high school, junior high and elementary basketball teams have 165 games booked for the 1946-47 season . . . For muscle men: Selection of a "Mr. Ohio," to be regarded as the state's most perfectly developed athlete will be a part of the activites at the annual AAU weight-lifting championships in Cleveland today . . . Kenneth Nouse, Loudonville, received a 1946 football "W" at Wooster college . . . Paul Severin, Florida line coach, spent some time this week looking over Paul Snyder's forward wall huskies . . . Mansfield's line was regarded as one of the heaviest and toughest in Ohio schoolboy circles . . . Florida, under Bear Wolf, is trying to gain a place in Southern football's select company . . . Among the players contacted were Dave Boals, Ray Beard, Bob Rondy and Dave Richards.

RAMETTE QUEEN OF '47—Betty Niebel, a senior at Madison high school held the title of "Ramette Queen of 1947" following a selection of the Girl's Athletic Association of the school. Chosen from five girls, Miss Niebel had to amass 2,000 points during her four years of high school to receive this distinction. The points are determined according the number of athletic events each girl participates in. Miss Niebel played basketball, volleyball, soft ball, ping-pong, and badminton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David C. Niebel, Olivesburg Road.

AKRON NORTH, BEXLEY AND LIBBEY HERE

Two Games Scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Mansfield's top basketball attraction of the 1946-47 campaign is only five-days away.

It's the annual cage carnival which is scheduled for presentation in the Senior high school gym Friday and Saturday nights. The cage carnival, believed to be the first of its kind in Ohio, will feature Mansfield, Akron North, Toledo Libbey and Columbus Bexley.

Other schools have conducted carnivals with four major court powers participating but the Mansfield edition is the only one which will have Friday's winners competing against each other and losers playing in the first tilt Saturday.

Bexley plays North in the inaugural battle at 7 p. m. while Mansfield tangles with Toledo Libbey in the finale at 8:30.

Akron North will be remembered as the team that extended Middletown in the Ohio Class A finals last spring. North has six lettermen off its great 1945-46 outfit but the Vikings have been unable to get rolling this season. They dropped games to Barberton, 44-28; Cuyahoga Falls, 53-37 and Akron Garfield, 55-44. Garfield is the class of the Rubber City.

Columbus Bexley opened with a convincing, 53-33, decision over Marion Harding but fell before Columbus North, 37-36, Friday night.

Toledo Libbey has played only one game, beating an alumni aggregation by a 57-36 score. Jim Fenner and Rubel Ashley scored 27 points for the Cowboys.

Mansfield copped two of three games prior to last night's battle with Lima South. Coach Vern Hoffman's Tygers tripped Wapakoneta, 33-22 and edged Cleveland Collinwood, 36-35. The Bengals fell before Bellevue's all-winning Redmen, 53-47.

Bears-Giants to Decide National League Title

NEW YORK—(AP)— The Chicago Bears and the New York Giants, professional football's two "winningest" clubs down through the years, collide in the Polo Grounds today in the National league's world series, and a lot of folks will be surprised no end if the Bears don't bring home the pot of honey.

The greatest crowd and the gaudiest gate in the 14-year history of this annual championship playoff already were a cinch when the box offices shut down last night and the sellout sign was dusted off, as far as reserved seats were concerned. All but a very few of the grandstand and temporary field rows were gone, leaving only 4,000 general admission bleacher pews for the pre-game rush before the 2:05 p. m. (EST) kickoff. And as a result it was just about a money-back guarantee that more than 55,000 customers would chip into a $250,000 melon to sit in on the Moleskin mayhem.

Champions of the west, the Monsters of the Midway were strong favorites to come lumbering in with their fifth league championship since this east-west clash for the crown was first started back in 1933. But, during the day, the betting boys apparently came around to deciding that maybe the Christmas spirit had gotten the better of them in the last few days when they made the Bears a 10-point choice. So they did a rapid about face and cut the price down to a mere seven, no doubt remembering that the last time the Windy City pigskinners and stout Steve Owen's warriors tangled a few weeks ago, the Giants practically beat the hides off the Bears.

No matter how long this tea party lasts, one or the other of the clubs will wind up in front. The National league has decreed that if they're all tied up, at the end of the four regulation quarters, they'll keep right at it on a sudden-death playoff basis.

This marks the eighth time each of these two outfits has won its regular-season sectional scramble for a free ticket to the playoffs.

Arnold Tucker In Running For Trophy Award

NEW YORK — (AP) — Arnold Tucker, quarterback on the unbeaten Army football team, is one of the nation's 10 amateur athletes still in the running for the James E. Sullivan Memorial award, an honor that went to Cadet Fullback Felix (Doc) Blanchard last year.

The trophy goes annually to the athlete, who in the estimation of the Sullivan award tribunal, is the nation's outstanding example of sportsmanship and amateurism. The panel of 10 finalsits was culled from a long list considered by an A. A. U. committee at the recent San Antonio convention.

The others on the list are Mildred Dietz, St. Louis cyclist and speed skater, Clare Lamore, Olneyville, R. I., swimmer; Douglas H. Lee, Baltimore wrestler; Johnny Lujack, Notre Dame quarterback; James McLane, Akron, O., swimmer; Zoe Ann Olsen, Oakland, Calif., diver; Clara M. Schroth, Philadelphia gymnast; William Smith, Honolulu swimmer, and Henry Wittenberg, New York wrestler.

Final votes of the tribunal will be tabulated shortly after Jan. 1.

Richland Beverage, Komito's Clothiers and Smokehouse will be trying to extend their two game winning streak in the City A basketball league at the Senior high gym this week.

The Smokehouse cagers meet the AVC quintet in the finale, Monday night, while Komito's play Legion Post 72 in the initial tilt at 7 on Wednesday night.

The Mansfield Tire-McCarrick's Gulf contest highlights Monday's schedule in the second game. Both quintets are tied with Yunckers and Urschel Insurance for the top rung in the second division. They have each split a pair of games.

Yunckers Sports play the first game on Monday's card against the Ohio Sports Center while the Insurancemen are scheduled to meet Barnes Manufacturing five in the second contest Wednesday.

Although the Smokehouse courtmen have an average of only 26.5 offensively, they lead the league on defense. The Cuemen have held their opponents to an average of 22.5 points a game.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Two chartered planes will take University of Cincinnati football players to their scheduled Sun bowl game with Virginia Polytechnic Institute at El Paso, Tex., Jan. 1, the university's athletic director, Charles Mileham, announced yesterday.

Tigers Seek Billy Evans As New Chief

DETROIT — (AP) — Dipping into the Minor leagues for the second time in two years to fill the vacated front office post of executive vice president, the Detroit Tigers today announced the selection of Ilham G. (Billy) Evans, veteran baseball umpire and president of the Southern association, to succeed George M. Trautman, whose resignation is effective January 1.

President Walter O. Briggs, owner of the Tigers, announced the appointment of Evans to replace Trautman, new president of the Minor leagues.

Trautman came here a year ago after yielding the presidency of the American association to succeed John L. (Jack) Zeller as general manager and executive vice-president of the Tigers.

Evans, at his home in Memphis, said that he was "highly gratified" with the Detroit offer, which he said came unexpectedly "out of the blue," and said that he had asked directors of the Southern association to release him from his five-year contract, which does not expire until Dec. 1, 1948.

"For me to consider and make a final decision in the Detroit matter, it will be necessary for the Southern league to first release me from my contract," Evans said, adding that he had referred the matter of such a release to the directors and expected a reply at their convenience.

National League Grid Club-Owners to Meet

NEW YORK —(AP)— Proposals to eliminate the point-after-touchdown and the playing of extra periods to determine the winner in all games are among the suggestions for new rules which will be considered by national football league club-owners Monday.

Both are offered by Commissioner Bert Bell. Under the first suggestion the point-after-touchdown would be done away with entirely and a touchdown would count six points, with no opportunity of increasing it to seven.

The "sudden death" method of breaking a tie game already is part of the league's rules in play-off games. It will be in effect tomorrow when the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants tangle for the league crown and has been on the books since 1941 when the Bears and Green Bay Packers met for the western division title.

A year ago in the "Refrigerator Bowl" championship game at Cleveland, Sammy Baugh pitched a pass from behind Washington's goal line and scored a bullseye on the cross bar. The ball bounced back into the end zone for a safety and those two points provided the Cleveland Rams' ultimate margin of victory over the Redskins.

Other business on the agenda for the one-day session includes the "trial" of Heartly (Hunk) Anderson, Chicago Bears' assistant coach, on charges of conduct detrimental to football because of some critical remarks he made about the Detroit Lions' management in the course of a speech in Detroit.

Other important proposals include permitting the substitution of only one man at a time when the ball is dead with the clock still running instead of allowing up to three substitutes; giving the team that's behind in the scoring the option of receiving the kick-off after a touchdown or field goal; a reversion to the 1945 rule making it an automatic touchback when a punt or kickoff crosses the goal line and the adoption of the high school rules declaring the ball dead immediately when it becomes evident that a try for a point after touchdown is unsuccessful.

JUNIOR HIGH COURT SKEDS

Complete schedules for Mansfield junior high school 1946-47 basketball teams were announced yesterday by Harry Mehock, director of athletics in Mansfield schools.

Johnny Appleseed and John Simpson both have 11 games booked with the climax being reached in the city championship contest on Feb. 5 in the Senior high gym. As in the 1946 football season the two local outfits appear well on their way to successful seasons.

The Bulldogs have notched a pair of victories over Ashland and Loudonville while Coach Norm Henline's quintet has defeated Union and Savannah. Bob Kennedy's Simpson teams play at Shelby tomorrow afternoon. The Bulldog varsity plays the Whippets reserves while the eighth graders meet the Shelby junior high team.

Appleseed collides with the Tyger sophomores in the preliminary to the Youngstown Chaney-Senior high contest on Feb. 5. Simpson meets the sophs in the curtain raiser to the Tyger-Warren Harding tilt on Jan. 24.

Michigan State Appoints Munn

EAST LANSING, Mich. —(AP)— Clarence L. (Biggie) Munn, head football coach at Syracuse university last season, was appointed head coach at Michigan State college yesterday.

"Munn is the first and only candidate Michigan State college considered for the job," said MSC President John A. Hannah. "He will bring to this campus all of the qualities which this school requires of its football coach."

Munn, whose appointment is effective immediately, succeeds Charles W. Bachman, who resigned last week after coaching Spartan football teams for 13 seasons.

'Y' CAGE LOOPS IN THIRD WEEK

One team is sure to fall from the unbeaten ranks as the YMCA Commercial B and Senior Church leagues head into their third week of competition.

Shelby Merchants, Ohio Public Service and Brodie Cigar store are perched atop the B loop standings with two victories and no defeats. However, OPS collides with Brodie Cigar in the feature attraction of Wednesday's four contest card which starts at 7 p. m.

The OPS-Brodie tussle is the third game on Wednesday's card and the former team rules the slight favorite. OPS knocked off Dominion Electric, 40-22, while Brodie defeated the same team, 30-22.

Shelby goes against Mansfield Tire in the finale. The Merchants have rolled up 90 points while holding its opposition to 38. Mansfield Plating meets Dominion Electric in the opener with Westinghouse playing Phalanx in the second tilt.

Park Avenue Baptist, a team that has averaged 36.5 points per game, tops the 'Y' Senior church league with two wins. St. Luke's is in second place with a lone victory.

St. Luke's plays Mayflower Congregational in the second contest on Tuesday's league slate at the YMCA with Park Avenue meeting First Presbyterian in the night-cap. First Lutheran and St. Matthew open the program at 7 p. m.

Ontario Community, which draws a bye Tuesday, is tied with First Lutheran and Presbyterian for third place.

Lefty Settlemire Will Manage Lima

LIMA — (AP) — Merle "Lefty" Settlemire, manager of the Richmond Roses of the Ohio State league last baseball season was named to pilot the Lima Terriers of the same circuit in 1947, J. Ramon Laibe, Lima club owner, announced yesterday.

Grudge Battle Added To Berry-Miller Card

Matchmaker Mike Wentz has added what promises to be a grudge battle to the Friendly House-40 et 8 Christmas boxing show Thursday night at Senior high auditorium.

Roland Blake, Mt. Vernon welterweight, meets Jack Draper, Marion, in the "grudge" offering. The two lads met in a slugfest at Marion six weeks ago and battled on even terms until Blake was forced to withdraw in the final round with a hurt hand.

Blake wanted a return shot at the Marion 145-pounder and Wentz granted the request. Both leather-throwers appeared on the first Mansfield amateur fight show of the season 10 days ago. Blake decisioned Ray Burdine, F-H scrapper while Draper was kayoed by Bob Kinnard, Mt. Vernon, in the fourth round.

The Draper-Kinnard battle provided the top action in the previous fistic program. They will meet in one of the two four-round semi-finals.

Kenny Berry, F-H, lightweight goes against Clay Miller, Akron, in the main event. Berry has won three of four bouts in local amateur shows. His only loss occured last season when he dropped a three-round decision to Gilbert Holcombe, Akron Golden Gloves champion.

Berry has been scheduled to fight the main event in the opening 1946-47 simon pure bill but his appearance was cancelled when the Fremont stable failed to make the trip to Mansfield.

In the other bout announced yesterday, Jack Brandt, former Tyger back, collides with Nate Roberts, Akron 119-pounder. Brandt won a tight battle from Bob Haycraft, Marion.

Eddie Knapp, who had been slated for the other semi-final may not be able to fight Thursday. He developed a thumb infection last week and had to lay off training. Wentz will know tomorrow whether Knapp can fight.

Eddie, a service returnee, is now attending Senior high school to conclude his studies. He is a featherweight.

Wentz plans on using five other F-H battlers including Pat Daley, Art Miller, Tom Weaver, Walter Lumpkins and Dick Bohland. Miller and Lumpkins fought on the first show with the former winning an easy victory over Darrell Murton, Marion.

Ten bouts will comprise the Christmas show with first action at 8:15.

More than 150 fish safety zones and sanctuaries in Ohio streams and lakes were eliminated by the State conservation and natural resources commission this past week.

The commission had been notified by the fish management section that the "little amount of good resulting from the zones did not warrant their continuance

The safety zones averaged about a quarter of a mile of stream waters.

McGINTY

Only sanctuaries to be maintained are private lakes where fishing rights are leased by the state.

These safety zones and sanctuaries were established in 1938 to serve as fish refuges during the spawning season.

Other action to take place at the two day commission meeting was the tentative adoption for the 1947 fishing regulations to remain the same as this year.

SPORTS FALLACIES

By MARGERY MILLER

Contrary to popular belief audiences at boxing matches are among the best behaved in big time sports

The reason for this fact is found in the nature of boxing itself Fans work off their animosity and excess energy by watching a couple of other guys hit each other Bouts in the audience are more common among followers of games such as hockey and football Although there is a great deal of body contact in these sports actual fighting is taboo

The fans therefore take out their ill humor and disappointment by hitting one another, or engaging in verbal battles or throwing things

Only the fighters need seconds at the fights

Butler Plays Lexington

BELLVILLE ENTERTAINS UNION FIVE

Butler high's cage team meets its strongest foe in the Richland county league race Friday night.

Coach Ed Wysocki's cagers, who have amassed 238 points in five tilts for an average of 47.6 will be the guests of Coach John Rees' Lexington Minutemen.

The Minutemen, who dropped a lone game to Bellville, 32-30 will be gunning to upset the undefeated Butler quintet. Bellville is tied with Lexington for second place with four wins and one defeat.

Minutemen forward Rollin Ford will be trying to regain the individual scoring lead he lost to Lucas' Don Stake Stake scored 19 points against Shiloh to take a one point margin over Ford, with 75 markers

In the other county cage contests, Bellville plays host to Union, which has dropped five straight tilts to league teams. Bellville is favored to win and should Butler win over Lexington, the Bluejays will take an undisputed title on second place.

Plymouth will be after its third win against as many set backs at Shiloh, who has yet to win a cage game.

The Lucas-Ontario contest renews an old rivalry that started many years ago Ontario is slightly favored over the Lucas quint at Lucas
